Tokyo Tries To Rally People Behind Tojo's Newest Mobilization Plan.

(By Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC—Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today the seaborne landing of Australian troops above Finschhafen, enemy base 60 miles northeast of Lae on the New Guinea coast, and the destruction of remnants of a Japanese garrison on Arundel island in the Solomons.

Under protection of warships and planes, the Australians went ashore against enemy opposition at dawn Wednesday just below the Song river. At dusk on the previous day, Japanese bombers and fighters sought to attack ships involved in the operations—but were intercepted between Lae and Finschhafen by P-40s which shot down four bombers and five fighters at a cost of one interceptor.

Capture of Finschhafen on the Huon peninsula, which is more suitable for ground action than any other territory previously attacked on New Guinea, would give MacArthur control of a gulf within easy overwater striking distance of Japanese-held New Britain and its stronghold of Rabaul.

On Arundel, directly west of New Georgia, American jungle troops destroyed enemy troops and reinforcements on the island's

His Dad Died a Hero

It's a big day, and yet a sad one for little Stanley K Robinson, Jr., son of an American war hero. Stan's dad, Col. Stanley K Robinson, is dead, but medals awarded posthumously to him keep his deeds alive. The boy proudly accepts them from Brig. Gen. Samuel M. Connell at March Field, California. Medals are Distinguished Service Cross, Distinguished Flying Cross and Purple Heart.

Public Forum, Oct. 4, to Open Mansfield Election Campaign

First move to get Mansfield's municipal campaign under way was made today by the League of Women Voters which invited candidates for city offices to speak at a public forum the night of Oct. 4 in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Although both political organizations had opened headquarters today, neither party has scheduled any meetings and party leaders predict the campaign will be limited to two or three weeks next month.

Both mayoralty candidates, Mayor W. J. Locke, Republican, and Atty. Glenn W. Marriott, Democratic standard bearer, were asked today by Mrs. D. O Meese, chairman of the League of Women Voters, to bring their parties' candidates to the forum session where the audience will be urged to question candidates on current city problems and get acquainted with the men who are seeking city offices. Candidates will be introduced and permitted to speak briefly in their behalf, Mrs. said.

Meanwhile, the League and both party organizations are trying to get prospective voters to register with the election board before the Oct 4 registration deadline. The election board headquarters in courthouse will be open from 7 to 9 p m next week and all day Saturday in addition to the regular daily schedule.

The Democrats had re-opened headquarters today at 17½ North Main street, over the Martin Hardware store, and Republicans were preparing to move into a room at 82½ North Main street, near Fourth street. Ralph Hardy, county G O P. executive chairman, said the party probably would hold its downtown rallies in a room at 29 South Main street.

BROWN QUITS

Commentator Objects To CBS Policy on News.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Cecil Brown, Columbia Broadcasting system news commentator, will make his last CBS broadcast tomorrow night because he said he could not subscribe to what he called the network's policy of "non-opinionated" news.

In announcing his resignation, he said the action resulted from an Aug. 25 broadcast in which he asserted that "a good deal of enthusiasm for this war is evaporating into thin air."

He said Paul W. White, CBS news editor, objected to the broadcast terming it "nothing but an editorial . . . defeatist talk . . . a statement of what Cecil Brown thought." The commentator countered that he made his statements on the basis of a nationwide tour.

GIVES HER ALL

Gypsy Rose Lee Ungarbs, Sells $9,000 in Bonds.

STAMFORD, Conn. — (UP) — Gypsy Rose Lee gave her all for the third war loan drive last night, strip-teasing $9,000 from a Palace theater audience for her hat, gloves, shoes, Nylon stockings and dress.

The hat, gloves, shoes and stockings brought $1,000 apiece, and feverish bidding got the dress up to $5,000. That left Miss Lee with a borrowed raincoat to make her exit from the stage.

Workers Open Tin Can Collection In City Tomorrow

The city's second tin can collection will be conducted Friday while cans will be picked up Saturday at eight collection depots in suburban areas outside the city.

Trucks will go into all six city wards tomorrow to gather cans the drivers find in containers at the curb in front of homes. Only shiny cans are wanted in the salvage drive. Rusty ones are of no value at tin salvage plants.

Most of the tin salvaged from cans goes into war materials, much of it being used in the manufacture of small tubes in which soldiers carry a hypodermic substance for use in the event they are wounded in action.

Collection depots outside the city will be located at the J. J. Swisher residence in South Boulevards, Roseland school building, Racmelton farm entrance on Marion avenue road, Besenti grocery in East Mansfield, Nick Moga residence in Garden Acres, Roxy Inn on U. S. Route 30-S, Stout's market on Park avenue west road, and Middleton's filling station in Lincoln Heights.

300 Bankers Hear Talks on Impact of War on Banking

Three hundred bankers of Ohio Group Six met in Mansfield yesterday for a general discussion of the impact of war on their business.

Highlight of the one-day session was the address of Prof. Monfort Jones, head of the finance department of the University of Pittsburgh, who spoke at the dinner meeting, concluding session of the gathering, at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Tracing the cost of waging war from the days of the Civil war to the staggering cost of World war II, Prof. Jones asserted that two-thirds of the cost of this war was being financed on borrowed money and that a half of that amount came from the commercial banking system of the country.

He outlined the general situation confronting the nation's commercial banks thusly: "How much in government bonds can you buy

MOSCOW, PLEASE

Washington, Soviet Capital Linked By Telephone.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Direct telephone service has been established between New York and Moscow.

The cost of a call between New York and Moscow is on the basis of $21 for three minutes. This service, like all other overseas communications, will be subject to censorship.

Change Clocks Sunday

Mansfield's clocks are going to be moved back an hour at 2 a. m. next Sunday and the city will return to the time it had before the war. The change will give city residents an extra hour of sleep Saturday night if they move their clocks before they go to bed. The time change is in accordance with a city ordinance which places Mansfield on Eastern Standard time from the last Sunday in September to the third Sunday in February. Schools, stores and public offices are expected to change back to standard time, but trains and network radio programs will continue on war time, making them an hour earlier according to Mansfield time.

MAYOR ASKS COUNCIL TO HIKE CITY PAY

Wants Labor Rate Raised From 65 to 75 Cents, Asks Council to Speed Action.

CAMPAIGN MOVE SEEN

Locke Makes Request Three Months After Wage Question First Comes Up.

Declaring that the morale of city employes had been lowered by council's failure to act on the workers' request for pay increases, Mayor W. J. Locke today said he asked council to raise the pay of the city's Class A and B laborers from 65 to 75 cents an hour and to "do something soon to clear up the pay raise situation."

The mayor said he called each council member by telephone to make his request and urge action on the pay question which first went before council three months ago. It was the first time the mayor had openly made any recommendation on the pay question.

With the fall municipal election only six weeks away, the mayor's request indicated the pay raise question might become a campaign issue unless council does something about it soon.

The mayor said he told councilmen he felt "it will help to clear this thing up if you will call in representatives of each city department, take them into your confidence, and explain the problem the city faces in granting increases."

Except in the case of laborers, who are becoming increasingly hard to find, he said he would make no specific request that council grant raises, nor would he urge that the request for more pay be turned down.

Council side-tracked the pay issue once, but early this month promised city employe representatives that their request would be re-considered.

Adm. King Says Raids Show Japs What's Coming.

OMAHA, Neb —(INS)— Admiral Ernest J King, the air-minded commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, told the closing session of the American Legion convention today that American air raids on the Marcus and Gilbert Islands, marked "the shape of things to come" for the Japs.

At the same time, the admiral pleaded with the Legion to demand that this country maintain a large navy after the war.

"I wish you well in your endeavors to see to it that our country shall always have the means to defeand our freedom from every kind of interference," he told 1,500 cheering Legionnaires.

BOLSTER MORALE

Nazis Increase Bread Ration, Improve Taste of Food.

Jeeps, Soldiers Roll Into City Tomorrow for Army Film

"This is the army" won't be just a phrase to Mansfielders tomorrow when a procession of jeeps and peeps and soldiers roll into town along with the picture "This is the Army" which will have its premiere tomorrow night at the Ohio theater.

From the arrival of a special detachment of soldiers from Camp Millard at 3 p. m. to the end of the benefit performance tomorrow night, the city will have a military atmosphere.

Military police will take up their stand at the "arch-rib" hut on the square where tickets for the performance have been on sale all week. Mrs. Gilbert Dobson, in charge of ticket sales at the hut, said today only a few seats remain to be sold.

It is expected that a routine training flight of Flying Fortresses will fly over the city between 5 and 5:30 p. m. According to arrangements made with Col. J. S. Fullet of Lockbourne air base, this training flight of fortresses may be directed over the city to heighten interest in the Army Relief Show.

At 7:45 Mansfielders will have an opportunity of witnessing close order marching maneuvers when the soldiers from Camp Millard drill in front of the Ohio theater

$116,647 MORE IN BOND SALES

Richland's Total Goes Up To $4,567,424 For Third Week of War Loan Drive.

As the Third War Loan drive entered its third week in Richland county today subscriptions totaled $4,567,424, leaving $1,492,576 to be raised by the end of the month.

Yesterday's sales were listed at $116,647.50 with 1472 persons subscribing this amount. Nearly 1,450 of these were E bond purchasers subscribing a total of $82,894.50.

From Washington today treasury officials reported the national drive $3,300,000,000 from its 15 billion dollar goal. It was reported that individual sales — "the backbone of the drive"— have increased to 39 per cent of their quota. Corporation investments are 89 per cent subscribed.

Among the sidelights reported by the treasury was the fact that men and women in state prisons were oversubscribing their quotas. Of 41 prisons reporting out of a total of 130, only one failed either to exceed or double its quota. Some sold five times their quotas. The total so far from penal institutions is $170,000. Their goal is $300,000, to buy one bomber.

In Galion today drive chairman, Alvin W. Kline, announced Galion had exceeded its quota of $712,212 with $865,000 reported.

ELINOR GLYN, NOVELIST, DIES

Famed For Books, Movies Popular With Women.

LONDON —(INS)— Novelist Elinor Glyn died today. She was 78.

Mrs. Glyn wrote scores of novels during a highly successful literary career extending over 36 years. Her work, based on the love theme, entertained millions of women from the time her first novel, "The Visits of Elizabeth," appeared in 1900 until 1936, when she published "Romantic Adventure."

She invaded the motion picture realm in 1922 with "The Great Moment" and "Beyond the Rocks" and scored her greatest success with the film "It," starring Clara Bow. This title became a popular term for feminine sex appeal.

ENDS PROGRAM

Oil Administration Stops Conversion of Furnaces.

NEW YORK —(INS)— The program of conversion from fuel oil to coal-burning equipment was suspended today by the petroleum administration for war, because of the critical coal supply situation.

Announcement of the suspension was made by H W. Dodge, east coast PAW director, as retail merchants told of a "wave of panic ordering coal" by householders.

J. A. C. Playteen Opens Doors for Parents Tonight

"Playteen," Mansfield Junior Association of Commerce's, answer to the problem of juvenile delinquency, will open its doors tonight to the parents of the high school youngsters served by the recreation center on Park avenue east.

The parents' preview will precede the formal opening of the center Saturday night when the members will dance to the music of Dave Weimer's orchestra.

Though the idea of a youth center had been discussed for the past two years by various civic organizations here work was actually started on the Playteen project around the first of August. For

EXTENDS HOURS

Auto Club Open Till 8 P. M. Friday For Licenses.

An extension of office hours to accomodate war workers still needing their new driver licenses was announced today by Jack Berger, secretary of the Richland Auto club.

Berger said the Auto club office will be open until 8 p. m. Friday as a convenience for motorists unable to apply for licenses during regular office hours which are 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. The office closes at noon on Saturdays.

The secretary estimated 5,000 licenses remain to be issued before the deadline Sept. 30. Applicants must present their old certificates.

FAILS TO SEE ANY BENEFIT

Refuses To Join Union That Can't Get Him More Pay.

CHICAGO — (UP) — A picket named Ollie carried a sandwich sign in front of Hyman Friedman's tire-recapping shop today because Hyman is not interested in the Rubber Plastic union, No 20911, (AFL) and their $500 death benefit.

"I ask the union man who wants I should join up if they can get for a raise or shorter hours, but they say of course not, because I'm the boss and the only employes I got," Hyman said.

"The only thing I get from the union is a $500 death benefit and I'm too healthy for paying $3 a month just for that," he said.

Such earnings, Babb said "would not affect the recipient's monthly awards from the state."

Germans Block Harbor, Allies Drive on City

Yanks, British Roll Up Gains of 10 To 15 miles as Nazis Fight Fierce Delaying Action; Rangers Helping French Corner Foe In Corsica.

BULLETIN

CAIRO—(UP)—Light Allied naval forces destroyed two enemy convoys in the Aegean sea, sinking the escort of one and damaging that of the other, it was announced officially today. The Allied naval forces suffered no loss, the announcement said.

(By Associated Press)

Fighting desperately, German troops retreated farther on the approaches to burning Naples today as the American Fifth and British Eighth armies rolled up gains of 10 to 15 miles and captured three more towns on the southern Italian front.

Allied headquarters announced that German demolition squads had scuttled at least 30 ships in the harbor at doomed Naples and blocked almost every usable berth along the docks.

In the past, virtually without exception, reports of Nazi demolitions meant that the Germans were pulling out.

In Corsica, victorious French troops supported by American Rangers continued to drive remnants of the 12,000-man Nazi garrison into the northeast corner of the island. Allied warplanes blocked and machine-gunned enemy ships from the Corsican escape port of Bastia attempting to reach Leghorn on the north Italian mainland.

The daily war bulletin from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters said Allied troops captured Acerno, 18 miles northeast of Salerno, after an eight-mile advance in the U. S Fifth army arena, and also seized Avigliano and Ginosa.

Avigliano is 60 miles east of Salerno, in the heart of the Italian peninsula. Ginosa lies 25 miles northeast of Taranto on the Italian heel, in the Eighth army's sector.

"Both the Fifth and Eighth armies have continued to advance," Gen. Eisenhower's command announced.

"The enemy continued to cling hard to his position in the western (Naples) sector while attempting to withdraw his left flank."

Dispatches from Allied headquarters said American bombers wrecked highways along which German troops were moving in the Naples vicinity, blasted enemy shipping in the Adriatic area, and strafed enemy motor convoys.

U. S. Liberators from the Middle East bombed the Eleusis airdrome at Athens, Greece, and attacked Maritza airdrome on the Nazi-occupied island of Rhodes. RAF planes struck also at Maleme airdrome in Crete.

Allied soldiers were within sight and sound of the systematic wreck-

QUADRUPLE: Hannover Torn As Allies Hurtle Four Raids

BULLETIN

LONDON—(INS)—The Royal Air Force attack on Hannover last night established a new record for concentrated bombing, authoritative quarters said today.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(INS)—Last night's RAF raid on Hannover possibly equalled or excelled the record 2,300-ton bombing assault on Hamburg, the Evening News said today.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Allied broadcasts threw a quadruple punch into enemy Europe with an RAF mass raid on the reich city of Hannover last night, a Flying Fortress attack on Nantes today and two U. S. Marauder assaults deep into France.

All were carried out within a period of 18 hours.

The air ministry said "a very strong force" of Britain's biggest bomb carriers roared into northcentral Germany during the night to attack the important railway and factory city of Hannover. Twenty-six of the bombers were listed as lost.

Preliminary reports show that a highly concentrated attack was completed in 30 minutes, leaving very large fires with smoke rising to a great height," a ministry communique said.

Smaller British bomber formations attacked the port of Emden, in the extreme northwest corner of Germany, and inland Oldenburg, a big army, airforce and railroad center east of Bremen.

(Today's German communique said "Hannover and Oldenburg report casualties among the civilian population as well as considerable damage to public buildings. Anti-aircraft forces shot down 21 enemy bombers.")

American Flying Fortresses, escorted by P-47 Thunderbolts, attacked naval installations at Nantes and airfields in western France a few hours after RAF

SURGE: Soviets Storm Into White Russia; Poltava Falls

BULLETIN

LONDON—(UP)—Russian scouts pushing on ahead of the main Red army forces have reached the Dnieper river, Capt. Ludwig Sertorious, Nazi radio commentator, reported today.

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—The Moscow radio said today that Soviet troops are storming into White Russia in the Gomel sector, shortly after a German announcement that Nazi forces have abandoned Poltava, gateway to the heart of the Ukraine.

Gomel, in the area where the new break-through was announced, is a rail center about midway between Kiev and Smolensk, within a bare 15 miles of the Dnieper river and within 150 miles of the old Polish border.

The advancing Red army, swinging forward along the entire Dnieper river front, was within clear view of the river along which the Germans are believed to have their main defenses in Russia, front line dispatches said.

Advance guards of the Soviets are within five miles from the Dnieper at some points with powerful Red army forces closing in methodically on the two Nazi bastions of Kiev and Smolensk.

There was an atmosphere of expectancy in Moscow, with some of the greatest victories of the war appearing to be at hand.

Poltava, a city of 90,000, lies on the Vorskla river in the Ukraine, and is the control center of a network of railways radiating to Kharkov, Kiev, Kremenchug and Dnepropetrovsk. Poltava was captured by the Nazis Sept. 20, 1941, in their first powerful drive across Russia.

The city was isolated yesterday when Red army forces stormed the

STATES RUSH PLANS TO CARE FOR CHILDREN

Day Nurseries Needed By Fall For 1,000,000 Pre-School Tots.

(By International News Service)

CHICAGO — War industry is absorbing women so rapidly that by fall, according to some estimates, day care will be needed for approximately 1,000,000 children of working mothers.

In investigating this situation, the American Public Welfare association found a study of the child care problem was being made in more than 31 states by official state groups, consisting of representatives from departments of public welfare, health, education, and labor.

It learned that legislation authorizing public schools or other agencies to establish day care nursery schools has been enacted by a score of these states in the last year. In some instances, the state even has provided funds for operation of day care centers.

New York was one of the first to take such a step. The others include California, Indiana, Utah, Vermont, Washington, Wisconsin, New Hampshire, Oklahoma, Texas, Massachusetts, Iowa, and Delaware.

Where the states have not provided funds for care of children of war workers, as much as 50 per cent of child care costs are met by federal funds in some cities.

Should legislation called the Thomas bill, already passed by the senate, be enacted, it will provide $20,000,000 a year to the states for day care of children.

In a number of centers, community fund organizations have been helping in the support of these nurseries, some of which were newly designed for children; others converted from now-closed WPA pre-elementary schools.

The Association has discovered an increase in play centers for school-age children and the provision in some cities of foster home day care for the very young.

In Detroit, a key war industry center, even the vacation-time problem has been covered by summer camps designed to release parents of children for factory work during the non-school period.

In short, everything is being done to encourage women to enter the war industries and to make it possible for them to remain once they have made the break away from home responsibilities.

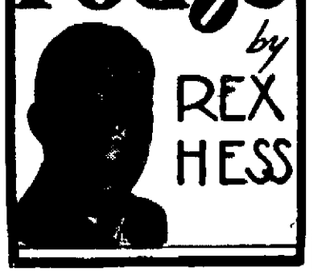
Sport Podge

by REX HESS



Mansfield bowlers undoubtedly are proud of the continued rapid growth of their favorite sport, which, in spite of the fact that hundreds of kegling brethren are in the armed services, keeps on expanding and adding to its popularity.

Increased number of teams in various leagues have given bowlers some idea of the growth of the sport this season, for instance the Moose league jump from 18 to 24 teams, the Westinghouse women's league increase from 18 to 24 teams causing a split-up for two leagues, other leagues increasing from eight and 10 to 12 teams.

Until you look at the actual figures, however, you can't realize the increase in league bowling this year. There are now 304 sanctioned teams in league bowling in Mansfield, compared to 235 last year.

Just for the sake of statistics counting the mixed doubles and the Westinghouse mixed league as men's teams, there are now 224 men's teams and 80 teams of women, compared to 177 men and 58 women's teams a year ago

And Al Vogel, manager of Colony alleys, reports he had to turn down several new leagues that wanted to bowl this year.

All of which proves that war workers demand recreation and have the money to pay for it, and bowling is one of the sources of recreation they prefer.

But it is entirely possible that their own enthusiasm for the game may be the cause of depriving them of their favorite sport.

The pin boy situation is no better than it was a year ago. In fact it is much worse. And unless the bowlers are patient and tolerant of the green boys who are breaking in, they may soon find themselves with not enough pin setters to run off a league, even setting double. Bowlers yelling at some of the new pin boys have gotten the kids so nervous and excited they didn't know what they were doing and had to be taken from the pits. Vogel reports. And some of these boys never came back.

"I expect the pin boy situation to get better with colder weather when the money the boys have earned during the summer in war plants begins to run out," said Vogel, "but some of the older boys are continuing to work in industry and will never be back

"In the meantime we've got to depend on new boys, and a great deal depends on the treatment the boys get from the bowlers on whether the new ones stay long enough to become experienced pin setters. If the bowlers will be patient and tolerant with the boys, the bowlers will be ahead in the long run. If they have any legitimate complaints to make, I wish they would make them to me instead of bawling out the kids," Vogel declared.

Pin boy problems used to be considered the management's headache. It can very well become the bowler's headache.

A Brunswick salesman, visiting the Colony alleys this week, had this story to tell.

Coming out of Cleveland he stopped at four small alleys of 12 lanes each. The first had a bar and a pool room, and in order to run off a matinee league the alley manager and all employes of the bar and pool room were setting pins. The night before two shifts of league play were scheduled but the second had to be cancelled because of lack of pin boys.

The second alley also reported cancellation of a second night shift of league play because of the pin boy shortage. The third closed up at 6:30 p. m. and the manager went to a movie. No pin boys. There's no report on the fourth.

N-J GOLF LEAGUE TO HAVE DINNER SUNDAY

News-Journal Golf league members will wind up their season Sunday with a full day of golf at Possum Run followed by their annual dinner at 6:30.

Captains of league teams are to meet this evening, at 6:30 at Possum Run to make out the prize list for the season's play.

Yankees Nearing Clincher

Need Three Victories To Eliminate Senators.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

THE NEW YORK Yankees can clinch their seventh American league championship in eight years tomorrow.

Apparently realizing they were running behind previous years, the bombers bowled over the Detroit Tigers, 4-2 yesterday and now need only three more victories to eliminate the Washington Senators and two to dispose of Cleveland.

The Yanks showed adequate authority in taming the Tigers with Charley Keller hitting a three-run homer, his 29th of the year, in the first inning and Hank Borowy pitching seven-hit ball for his sixth consecutive victory and 10th in 11 games.

* * *

The Senators sailed to their 10th straight triumph in the first part of a twilight doubleheader, 4-0. But they were shelled to a 9-1 defeat in the second game as Denny Galehouse pitched a six-hitter.

Cleveland's game at Boston was postponed, making a doubleheader today.

In the National league Mort Cooper chalked up his 21st success against eight defeats as the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Brooklyn Dodgers 4-3.

The Dodgers' defeat tightened the National scramble for second place as Cincinnati split a double bill with the New York Giants. Elmer Riddle came up with his 20th triumph in the opener, which the Reds took 4-2. In the second game the Giants routed Bucky Walters with a five-run seventh inning and won 10-4.

Boston beat Pittsburgh 5-3 as the Phillies halved a pair of games with the Chicago Cubs. Claude Passeau took the first affair, 5-1 and Al Gerheauser hurled a six-hit 3-0 shutout in the second game.

In the other American league action the Chicago White Sox whipped the Philadelphia Athletics twice 6-0 and 2-1.

LeMunyon Sets Tappan Pace

Stove League Opens Bowling Season.

LeMunyon paced Tappan Stove league bowlers opening their season last night at Colony alleys with a 585 total on games of 201-163-221. His final line was also high for the league.

Aged Flying Ebony Ordered Destroyed

SANTA BARBARA, Calif.—(AP)—Flying Ebony, winner of the 1925 Kentucky Derby, nibbled today on the evergreen grass of horse heaven.

Feebled by old age, the black stallion was destroyed yesterday at the Charles Perkins ranch. His remains will be interred at the ranch, where he spent his retirement years siring champions

Flying Ebony won the Derby and five other races in 13 starts, earning a total of $61,430.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Starting off right: On the first night of bowling in a Chicago ladies' league, Laura Stellmacher came through with a series of 205-254-251—710, highest score for any Chicago woman in eight years. . . . When it was announced in the press box that Rookie Joe Soskovic and old man Johnny Cooney wouldn't accompany the Dodgers on their current western tour, the announcer explained: "Soskovic is going back to school and Cooney is playing hookey."

Arthur Metheny, Yankees—Bud learned to play baseball on the streets of St. Louis and played on an amateur team that won the city championship. . . . Once hit .572 at William and Mary but it's safe to say he won't do that at Yankee stadium. Currently he's clouting .269 for the Yanks.

Stan Musial, Cardinals—Stan started out three years ago as a left-handed pitcher at Daytona Beach but soon saw the error in his ways. He's a cinch for the National league batting crown with a .356 average. Also leads the league in doubles and triples and has socked 13 homers.

Dick Sipek, Cincinnati farmhand who hit .335 for Birmingham this season, shouldn't have much trouble with umpires. He can neither speak nor hear. . . . And Paul Florence, head-man of the Barons, sees him as the logical successor of two old-time stars who were similarly handicapped, the Reds' Billy Hoy and Luther "Dummy" Taylor of the Giants. . . . Fritzie Zivic, who was suspended last summer for failing to go through with a bout in Chicago, is pleading for reinstatement by the N. B. A. so he can pick up some easy dough while he's still an attraction in the ring.

Brewers Even Up Series With Birds

(By Associated Press)

The pennant-winning Milwaukee Brewers and the second place Indianapolis Indians evened accounts last night in the American Association playoffs, Milwaukee whipping Columbus 8-6 while the Indians defeated Toledo 6-3.

For seven innings the third place Red Birds appeared to be on the way toward a second consecutive win over Milwaukee, having grabbed a 4 to 3 lead. But in the eighth the Brewers filled the bases against Ken Burkhart and picked up a run when Francis Barrett, who relieved Burkhart, walked Julio Acosta. Then, with the bags still loaded, Hershel Martin slammed a home run, putting the Milwaukeeans in front 8 to 4.

The Birds staged an abortive two-run rally in the ninth off Southpaw Bill Seinsoth, Indianapolis was never headed in downing the fourth place Hens.

Tonight the teams play at Columbus and Toledo where they will finish their best three-out-of-five series.

GAME CANCELLED

MORGANTOWN, W. Va.—(AP)—With its opening game originally scheduled for Saturday with West Virginia tech of Montgomery cancelled, the West Virginia university football eleven will open its 1943 season Oct. 2 when it meets the University of Virginia at Charleston.

QUIT FOOTBALL

FINDLAY—(AP)—Lack of players forced Findlay college to cancel its 1943 football schedule, Coach Nelson Jones announced. The decision left an open date Oct. 9 in the schedule of Bowling Green State university and the game was immediately scheduled with Carson Field.

Scarlet and Gray's Brown Turns Mild Shade of Blue

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

The Battling Bucks of Ohio State will have to be just that this year.

The great 1942 team, undisputed claimant to the national collegiate football championship, is gone.

In rebuilding—and that is what Coach Paul Brown, the high school whiz, has had to do—the Buckeye grid leader found a squad of 47 players, 41 of whom were freshmen, many of them still under 18 years of age.

The varsity has only one regular from last year and several second and third stringers.

Ohio State, unluckily this football year, has had no servicemen to augment the regular squad. Most of the team members are home-grown high school stars.

Brown, however, is right at home with this type of player and he has proven he can whip together good teams. Despite the two-nothing count, Brown probably will connect with a combination that will give the Scarlet and Gray a club to be proud of, even though not of championship caliber.

Bill Willis, the big tackle of the 1942 squad, is the one returning regular. Opposite him will be either Ray Stackhouse of Dayton, or Freshman Russ Thomas of Charleston, W. Va., although the last-named recently suffered an injury which may keep him out of early games.

At the ends, Coach Brown is expected to start Jack Dugger, Canton, O., junior, a former guard who was a third-stringer last season, and Cecil Souders, second-stringer last season. Dugger, 4-F in the selective service, has won letters in basketball and track besides football. Dugger has been named acting captain of the Buckeyes to replace Chuck Csuri, who is in the army but still is the official leader of the squad.

At the guards, Bill Hackett, who was on the squad last season, and Wid Miller will hold forth. Gordon Appleby, squad member last season, is the center.

As usual, Coach Brown has a flock of star high school backs to step in and become the new Ohio State hero. Observers look to Dean Sesanbaugher, Uhrichsville, O., freshman, as the key to the Buckeye offensive threats. Sensanbaugher, left halfback, is a fine ball carrier who can run hard and fast.

Quarterbacking job is being filled by Al Williams, an 184-pounder from Canton, O., McKinley high school, also a freshman. At the other backfield spots are two more frosh, Ernie Parks, the state sprint champion from Canton McKinley, and Glen Oliver, Columbus, O., youth.

Brown's squad has looked good in practice on the offensive but its defensive work needs concentration.

The Bucks, winners of nine games against one loss (to Wisconsin) last year, open with the Iowa Seahawks and then play Missouri, Great Lakes, Purdue, Northwestern, Indiana, Pittsburgh, Illinois and Michigan.

Boor Leads Victory Loop

Ebbert Turns In High Game of 224 Pins.

Boor's 570 series took scoring honors in the Victory bowling league at Colony alleys last night, but Hal Ebbert rolled high game of 224 in a 562 series.

Duck Hunting Rules Outlined

COLUMBUS—(AP)—State conservation officials today reported prospects are promising for the duck season which opens in Ohio Saturday, Sept. 25.

Shooting will be permitted from 30 minutes before sunrise until sunset until the season closes Dec. 3, with a daily bag limit of 10 ducks of all kinds including not more than one woodduck or more than three redheads and bufflehead.

Woodcock season will be from Oct. 10 to Oct. 24, with a bag limit of four a day.

Daily bag limit for geese and brant is two birds, but four additional blue geese are allowed. A bag of six blue geese is permitted if no other kinds are taken.

Former Captain Faces Purdue

Marquette Coach Pulls Dramatic Appointment.

By BUCKEY O'CONNOR

CHICAGO—(AP)—"Anything can happen this Saturday," Coach Elmer Burnham of Purdue told his football squad, and he hit the nail on the head like a $2-an-hour carpenter.

For when the Boilermakers take on Marquette at Milwaukee the Hilltopper captain will be Bill Combs, former Purdue star end who was voted the most valuable player on the 1941 Boilermaker team.

Coach Tom Stidham of Marquette, with a fine sense of the dramatic, has named Combs to lead the Milwaukeeans against his former mates. Combs is a navy V-12 medical student at Marquette.

Notes from other midwest colleges:

Ohio State concentrated on a pass defense for the Iowa Seahawks. . . . While Lieut. Don Faurot, Seahawk coach, announced his starting quarterbacks would be Jimmy Smith, Illinois captain last year.

Northwestern's first and second stringers solved Indiana running plays as executed by the third team in a brisk scrimmage, but the Wildcats were told the Hoosiers might give them trouble with passes.

Great Lakes' starting assignment against Iowa Saturday apparently were uncertain, since Lieut. Paul (Tony) Hinkle emplayed four tailbacks in practice . . . Coach Charley Bachman put his Camp Grant squad through a long blocking drill, preparing for Wisconsin. Illinois, with an open date this week, had a light scrimmage.

At South Bend, Ind., Coach Frank Leahy said John Lujack of Connellsville, Pa., would start at quarterback for Notre Dame against Pittsburgh and would shift to left halfback when Angelo Bertelli enters the gamea.

Minnesota, readying for its opener with Missouri, lost another man through injuries. Mike Rapko suffered a hand injury in blocking dummy maneuvers . . . At Ann Arbor Coach Fritz Crisler put his Wolverines through a heavy offensive workout.

Bagby, Boudreau Row In New Tribe Uprising

League's Hardest Working Hurler Resents $100 Fine Tagged on Him.

By LARRY SMITH

BOSTON—(AP)—The major leagues' youngest manager faced his first player rebellion today after Pitcher Jim Bagby announced he was "tired of being made the goat" and was willing to be traded and take a pay cut "to get away from Boudreau."

The Cleveland Indians' slim right hander and 16-game winner told a Cleveland baseball writer last night he had asked to be traded after Manager Lou Boudreau had fined him $100 for being out of condition.

"A few weeks ago he left me behind when the team went to Chicago," Jim said, "and the statement he gave to the press was that I needed a rest. Well, do you know what that rest cure cost me? Just $100. He fined me that for being out of condition. That was when I went to Peckinpaugh (club vice president) and told him to trade me.

"How can Lou say I was out of condition?" he continued. "Look at the records and you'll find I've pitched more innings than any other man in the league. Is that the record of a guy that's out of shape? He says I don't do enough running. I say I run as much as any of our pitchers, more than some. Why does he pick me out as an example?"

The Tribe's 26-year-old pilot admitted "Jim and I haven't seen eye-to-eye on some things," but added, "I'd be silly to trade him unless I could get something of equal value for him. I'd rather have a disgruntled winner than a happy loser."

Boudreau's benching of Jeff Heath a few weeks ago provided the first indication that all was not peaceful in the wigwam. The slugging outfielder was removed from the lineup for criticizing an order to "take" the first pitch when he went to the plate with the bases loaded but Lou considers the incident closed.

"Jeff is in the hospital with bronchial pneumonia," he said, "but if he were well and able to play he'd certainly be with us now."

* * *

Back in 1940 the Cleveland front office quelled an Indian uprising by firing Manager Oscar Vitt, then under a one-year contract, but President Alva Bradley has signed Boudreau to the longest contract he ever has given any pilot—a three-year document that doesn't expire until 1945.

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Cincinnati's Reds, getting nowhere in their try for second money in the National league, are calling on Johnny Vander Meer tonight to stop the New York Giants.

One Hugh East, a rookie, will pitch for the last-place Giants, who kept the Reds out of second yesterday by splitting a doubleheader. A double win would have put the Reds half a game ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers, who lost to St. Louis.

Elmer Riddle held the Giants for the 4-2 opening victory, his 20th of the year, but Bucky Walters blew up in the nightcap and the Giants had it 10-4.

Estel Crabtree's homer, coming after Max Marshall had singled in the eighth, clinched the first game. Rookie Bill Voiselle held the Reds to four hits, but two straight errors by Shortstop Buddy Kerr helped the Reds to their other two runs, both unearned, in the seventh.

Walters had the Giants 4-2 going into the seventh of the second game, but he lost his control and before Joe Beggs could stop it, five runs were in. The Giants got three more in the ninth.

Sam Musille Wins End Job

Change Made In Tyger Lineup For Elyria.

For the past two weeks Sam Musille's tackling has been the talk of the Mansfield Tyger practice field, and his defensive play at Marion last Saturday night was of the same caliber he had shown in practice.

"We have to have him in there all the time," Coach Paul Snyder said today in explaining the only change in the Tyger lineup for tomorrow night's game at Elyria.

Sam starts at left end tomorrow night, with Joe Komjenovich moving to left tackle. A defensive change will put Bill Lewis in the backfield where his height should help out against Elyria passes, and Dominic Musille will move up to a defensive guard.

"We haven't been trying anything new this week," Snyder reported, "just trying to iron out the mistakes made in the Marion game, and there were plenty of them."

The Tygers held a defensive drill yesterday against Elyria plays, and tonight at 8 o'clock will practice under the lights at Stadium Field in a signal drill.

Ticket Chairman George Sherman announced he will be in his office at the high school during tonight's practice session so that fans may get their season tickets.

Home games on the Tyger schedule are: Cleveland St. Benedictine, Oct. 1; Defiance, Oct. 8; Springfield, Oct. 15; Toledo Waite, Nov. 5, and Canton McKinley, Nov. 12.

1,300,000 MEN MISS DRAFT IN U.S. JOBS, CLAIM

Committee Told Thousands of Single 'Draftables' Still on Federal Payroll.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The house military affairs committee was told today that a completed report by the selective service commission which has not yet been made public shows that there are 1,300,000 draft age men on the federal pay roll who are single or married without children.

The statement was made by Rep. Harness (R-Ind.), a member of the committee, who said that in one agency alone—the federal security administration—there are 1,086 single men and 1,184 married men without children who are not yet in the armed service although of draft age.

Existence of the manpower report was divulged as the senate military affairs committee neared the end of hearings on the Wheeler bill to defer the drafting of pre-Pearl Harbor fathers.

Wheeler, leading opponent of the father draft, has contended that armed service requirements can be met without drafting fathers, if 100 per cent efficiency is obtained in manpower uses in industry, agriculture and government.

The disclosure was made as Speaker of the House Rapburn (D) Tex., expressed the opinion that no legislation would be adopted by congress prohibiting the draft of fathers.

Addressing himself to Robert M. Barnett of the war manpower commission's review board created by President Roosevelt last March to consider government deferment, Harness said:

"How in the name of common sense can that many single men and married men without children remain on the federal payroll when they are of draft age and at a time when draft boards all over the nation are disturbed about drafting pre-Pearl Harbor fathers with children?"

Barnett answered:

"We have wondered about that but felt it not in our jurisdiction."

Barnett added that the figures of his board did not agree with those revealed by Harness but he conceded the board's figures were "incomplete."

He also pointed out that many of the government employes might be in 4-F or awaiting induction.

MEET TONIGHT

Purpose of T. B. Levy To Be Discussed at Session.

In an effort to arouse interest in the half mill levy for the Richland County tuberculosis sanatorium which goes before Mansfield voters in the November election, a meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. today in the common pleas courtroom at the courthouse.

Dr. Oren Beatty, superintendent of the tuberculosis sanatorium, will present a summary of the work done, the accomplishments, and the various treatments followed at the sanatorium during the three years the levy has been in existence.

Dr. John S. Hattery will also be a speaker.

MORROW FARMER TAKEN BY DEATH

LEXINGTON—A life-long resident of Morrow county, John S. Ruhl, 69, of near Lexington, died Wednesday in Mansfield General hospital following a lingering illness.

Surviving are his widow, Mary; two step-daughters, Martha and Dorothy Seif of Galion, and a sister, Mrs. Lillie Hiskey of Johnsville.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Snyder funeral home. Rev. P. E. Auer, pastor of Peace Lutheran church at Galion, will officiate. Burial will be in Lexington cemetery.

GET PAY BOOST

CRESTLINE—Council granted a $10 monthly raise to firemen, street commissioner, chief of police and patrolmen at a meeting Monday evening.

Firemen will receive $150; the street commissioner $165; the police chief, $170, and patrolmen $165.

TO AID BAND

CRESTLINE—At a meeting of the Band Mothers club Tuesday it was agreed to back the band and take them to a few of the out of town football games.

Mrs. L. M. Niswander appointed Mrs. R. B. Smith, Mrs. H. A. Hodle, Mrs. John Beach and Mrs. Albert Beck as a nominating committee for the annual election of officers to be held at the October meeting.

CLAIM $100,000

TOLEDO — (AP) — Thirty-one former guard employes of the E. B. Badger and Sons' company, constructors of the Plum Brook Ordnance works near Sandusky, filed an intervening action here to collect $100,000 they claimed due them for unpaid overtime work, between July and December, 1941.

FREAK MISHAP

A freak three-way accident yesterday afternoon at the intersection of State Route 39 and the Mt. Zion road damaged the cars involved but left the occupants uninjured.

When E. J. Bloom, Mansfield R. D. 4, stopped suddenly after turning into the Mt. Zion road, Arthur Smith, Lucas R. D. 1, ran into the rear of Bloom's car hooking the bumpers. The Smith car still partially on the highway was then struck by a truck driven by Joe Gross of Cleveland.

SCHOOLS PLAN FUTURE EVENTS

Pupils To Pay Tribute Monday To Johnny Appleseed; Pep Rally Planned.

With the first few weeks of adjustment over, school activities were getting under way today with plans for three important events in the making.

Monday students of Johnny Appleseed will celebrate the birthday of that famous character for whom their school was named. Sept. 26 is the date of the birth of Johnny Appleseed but since it falls on Sunday this year the assembly is scheduled for Monday, Mrs. Anna Onstott, the guest speaker, will display some of her newly-discovered relics associated with Johnny Appleseed.

Senior High pupils will give the football team a send-off tomorrow afternon with a pep rally in the auditorium at 3 p. m. The team will leave shortly after that for a game that evening with Elyria.

Nominations for student representatives will be made earlier this year and will be an event of this week. In other years student representatives have not been elected until later in the semester allowing time for students to get acquainted and be able to choose their leader.

Glenn G. Rohleder, principal, said elections would be held early this year to give the student governing body a chance to get into operation before the school is called upon to assist in home front drives and civic activities.

City to Observe Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 3-9

Mansfielders will be urged to learn how their fire department operates and to give more protection against fire losses during the week of Oct. 3-9 which has been designated by President Roosevelt as National Fire Prevention week.

Acting Fire Chief LeRoy Zimmerman said today he planned to carry the appeal for five prevention measures into the schools this fall, speaking to pupils on prevention and telling them how to call the fire department in the event of a fire in their neighborhood.

"A great many people never think of the fire department until they need it, and then they sometimes become confused and don't know how to get firemen in the shortest possible time," Zimmerman said.

He explained that the emergency fire telephone number, 2323-4, is found on the second page of the telephone directory, making it unnecessary to look through the book when time means everything.

Fifty colorful posters, showing a match and a bomb as weapons of the enemy, will be displayed in the city during Fire Prevention week. The posters will carry this appeal: "Help Guard the Home Front Against Fires."

PUT FINISH ON WATER PROJECT

$173,000 Shelby Improvement To Be Finished In Two Weeks.

SHELBY — The $173,000 improvement project for Municipal waterworks is expected to be completed within the next two weeks, J. P. Adkins, utilities' superintendent, disclosed today.

The pipeline has been completed as well as the main part of the dam across the Blackfork branch of the Mohican river.

Wings of the dam were to be completed this week as well as the upground storage reservoir which will hold 60 million gallons of water.

The settling basin at the plant to treat the river water so that it can be used as an auxiliary water source for the city wells has been installed.

First water is expected to be pumped into the reservoir in the next ten days, Adkins said.

Mathews, New York City; two brothers, William and Herbert Algire, and two sisters, Mrs. Ella Wagner and Mrs. Lily Fidler of Fredericktown; eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

INDICT FIVE

MILLERSBURG — Nine witnesses were examined, eight cases considered, five true bills presented and three cases ignored when the Holmes county grand jury met Monday.

Of the true bills returned, one was a secret indictment. The four indicted were: Norman Rowe and Kenneth Martin of Millersburg for grand larceny; Ray Purdy of Glenmont, assault with intent to rape; Harry Hinkle, jr., resisting an officer. The cases ignored were Amanda Gingerich, trespassing; Norman Rowe, non-support, and Ernest Stolipher, threatening with a dangerous weapon.

GIVEN AWARDS

BUCYRUS — Red Cross silver blood donor buttons were presented to 124 Crawford county men and women who have donated three pints of blood to the American Red Cross blood bank, at a ceremony at the Y. OCT. 14-21 SET AS DATES FOR Y. M. C. A. MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

Mansfield Y. M. C. A. will stage its annual membership drive Oct. 1 to 21, inclusive.

Dates for the campaign were set at a meeting yesterday of the association membership committee with William Mabee, chairman.

The committee found there are several things it will have to do before setting up the drive in divisions, teams and workers. Harold Burns, who had been slated to head the campaign as general chairman, is in the army, committee members learned yesterday, and picking his successor is the first step necessary for setting up the drive.

It was also decided to check over names of past members to find how many are now in service before setting a goal for the campaign, General Secretary R. B. Chapman said today.

Present plans call for a campaign setup of 48 workers in two divisions. Prospect, publicity and organization committees will be named to carry out preliminary work.

The association membership committee yesterday decided that there will be no increase in membership rates this season, pointing out that the white collar workers who make up a large part of the membership have not benefited from the general pay increases since the war started.

It was suggested yesterday that the numerous army draft rejections for physical defects point to the need for a general buildup of civilian health, and that the physical program of the Y. M. C. A. this winter should be directed toward preparing men for the service, and improving their health for war work at home.

FUND DWINDLES

Mayor Says $362 All That's Left of Defense Money.

With Mansfield's civilian defense funds down to $362, enough to last only through October, Mayor W. J. Locke said today he had written state civilian defense headquarters to inquire about the chances of getting more state money to keep the organization intact in the city.

If he doesn't get any encouragement from the state, he said he would place the problem before council.

"I'm not asking council for more money, but I'm going to place the situation before members to see what they want to do about it," the mayor said.

If the civilian defense council, which the mayor heads, is unable to get more funds, it will have to close its headquarters in the city building, leaving the work to volunteers, he indicated.

The civilian defense units are fairly well equipped and most of the expense now is in the maintenance of telephone lines into the civilian defense control center, Mayor Locke said. Telephone costs alone amount to nearly $200 monthly, he added

COACH SPEAKS

Paul Snyder, football coach at Mansfield senior high school displayed equipment and talked on the senior high school football program at last night's meeting of the Lions club.

The club, meeting for a dinner session at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, planned a special program to be held at the Lions' Den, West Third street, for Wednesday night, Sept. 29.

STIMSON COY ABOUT REPORTS ON MARSHALL

Sidesteps Queries on Transfer of Staff Chief To New Place of Command.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson refused today to deny or confirm reports that Gen. George C. Marshall may be made Anglo-American commander-in-chief but commented that "our generals are placed where they will be of the greatest possible use."

Questioned at a press conference about published assertions that the U. S. Army chief of staff will be made commander of all Anglo-American forces throughout the world, Stimson said:

"In general, we don't put a general where we think he is not of the greatest possible use.

"I don't wish to comment on any individual, but that is the general principle."

Stimson inferentially denied suggestions that a change in assignment for Marshall would consittute a "kick upstairs." He referred reporters to recently published laudatory articles on the chief of staff and added:

"I believe others have answered that fully and freely."

Reporters also sought to draw Stimson out about the recent statement by Gen. Douglas MacArthuh, Allied commander in the Southwest Pacific, indicating that he felt Allied strategy planned at the recent Quebec conference relegated his theater to a secondary position.

Stimson in response to questions said he knew of no plans to call MacArthur home.

"Gen. MacArthur is very busily engaged and very active in very important operations," the secretary said. "I doubt if he would want to leave at this time. People from here all the time are going out to see him.

"This is a global war. And one of the best things we have done is institution of constant touch with commanders in various theaters."

Congress Irked At MacArthur Snubbing

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur's discussion of reports that he will be subordinated inspired congressional comment today on failure of Allied leaders to call the southwest Pacific commander into conference.

Congressional admirers of the general, of whom there are many, described the situation as both amazing and extraordinary, pointing to the frequent conferences between other theater commanders and the joint chiefs of staff.

Any move to shelve the veteran commander as the Allied leader of the fight against the Japs was highly criticized by both congressmen and senators who warmly praised MacArthur.

Sen. Homer Ferguson (R) Mich., said that "it is quite surprising that Gen. MacArthur has never been invited to Washington or that the Allied high command has never held any conferences in the Pacific."

One senator pointed out that other generals have been called back from the Pacific and from Europe for conferences. Such trips, it was pointed out, can be made in a matter of days by airplane.

'Work Census' to Be Taken Among Senior High Pupils

With more than 100 high school pupils already working part time to relieve the labor shortage and requests for additional help pouring in each day, Glenn G. Rohleder, senior high principal, said today he planned to take a work census of the senior high pupils

The principal is now at work on a questionnaire to be distributed to pupils next week. Its purpose is to determine what pupils are working and where and if they are not working whether they would do so.

"We don't intend to make the boys and girls go to work but hope through this questionnaire to locate those who are not working and would like to. In these times it is important that youngsters do more with their time than play ball in an alley," Rohleder said.

Some of the requests which are pouring into the principal's office each day are for girls to work in homes helping with the evening meal or caring for children while the mother works, boys to work in filling stations, reading gas meters, or picking apples.

Most families have been cooperative about the work problem, Rohleder said. He noted there are some families that feel their children will not have enough time to study and will not be able to keep regular hours if they work.

"It is important for parents to remember that the school will always emphasize school work first. Therefore, there is little danger of our arranging a schedule which is injurious to the child's education," Rohleder emphasized.

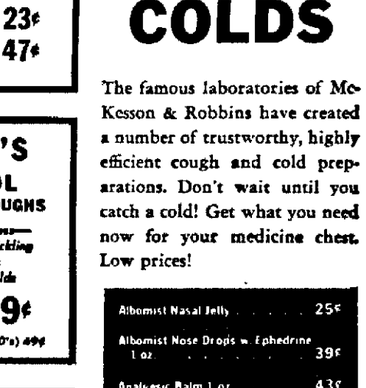
Lowe Brothers HIGH STANDARD HOUSE PAINT



Lowe Brothers HIGH STANDARD HOUSE PAINT covers solidly more square feet of surface per gallon, wears longer and actually costs less to use than cheap paints. And here is why! Recognized laboratory tests show that many "cheap" paints contain as much as 65% of water and other evaporating liquids—and only 37% of protective film-forming solids. But Lowe Brothers HIGH STANDARD HOUSE PAINT contains 90% of surface protecting, film-forming solids. That's why it costs less to use—why it spreads evenly and saves time and money. GETS AWARD

HOT SPRINGS Ark.—(U.P.)—National Park Ranger Tom D. Wilson has received a Purple Heart medal and citation awarded posthumously to Pvt. Ernest Claude, 29, for bravery in action. The award is the last chapter in a story of friendship.

Claude, who enlisted in the army in September, 1940, had no living relatives

He named as his beneficiary a friend of long standing, Ranger Tom Wilson On May 2, Wilson received word that Claude had been killed in Tunisia

PUT TRUST IN CRUST

FORT OGLETHORPE, Ga.—(U.P.)—WACs at Fort Oglethorpe believe the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, but it helps if he knows the name and address. So—when a WAC cook bakes a pie for the fliers' mess at nearby Lowell Air Field she puts her name and address under the pie crust.

HARSH LAXATIVES UNNECESSARY?

Millions Find Simple Fresh Fruit Drink Gives Them All the Laxative Aid They Need

Don't form the habit of depending on harsh, griping laxatives until you've tried this easy, healthful way millions now use to keep regular.

It's fresh lemon juice and water taken first thing in the morning—just as soon as you get up. The juice of one Sunkist Lemon in a glass of water. Taken thus, on an empty stomach, it stimulates normal bowel action, day after day, for most people.

And lemons are actively good for you. They're among the richest sources of Vitamin C, which combats fatigue, helps resist colds and infections. They supply vitamins B, and P, aid digestion and help alkalinize the system.

Try this grand wake-up drink 10 mornings. See if it doesn't help you! Use California Sunkist Lemons.

VICTORY COMMITTEE URGES ESSENTIAL WARTIME PRINTING

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — "When American bombers drop leaflets over French Africa and Europe . . . that's printed advertising at work on the fighting front," the Graphic Arts Victory Committee declared in its "Guide to Essential Wartime Printing and Lithography."

Presenting the "Guide" to a recent Washington conference, the committee stated that the aim of the graphic arts industry "is to aid advertisers in presenting essential messages relating to government projects, to the general public."

"Despite shortages of paper, manpower, ink, zinc, copper and other necessary materials, the Graphic Arts industry is urging its customers to produce and circulate essential war messages w/ s materials available," the committee stated.

"The Graphic Arts Victory committee is not concerned with fighting for existence, nor will it waste time fighting against restrictions. If printed promotion will help win the war, then we want to place all available information in the hands of those who wants to help."

The 64-page guide translates the war effort into terms of the "local grocer, florist, plumber, baker, and candlestick maker." It shows the advertiser how he can help spread the information on conservation, manpower, salvage, morale, nutrition, redistribution of materials, war savings bonds, etc.

The office of civilian defense is planning to send 20,000 copies of the guide book to local civilian defense offices in order to enlist every community's local participation and application of the suggestions contained in the guide.

"This Guide Book is not an official document of the government," the committee pointed out. "It is the result of the work of the research committee of the Graphic Arts Victory committee."

"It is not intended to induce you to use more printing. Its only purpose is to supply you with information which you can use in gearing your printing to the war effort," the committee concluded.

DEVELOP MINES

POLAND SPRING, Me. —(NS)— Mica, the number one strategic material of the war, is found in large quantities in Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and Connecticut and is being extracted for the war effort. This fact was made public by Kenneth P. Gregg, of Hartford, Conn., chairman of the New York and new England states council on mineral industries.

HELICOPTERS SAFE RISK

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — A large banking firm, convinced of "the helicopter's possibilities, with the elimination of most of the risks common to high-speed airplanes," has announced it will finance post-war helicopter purchases at standard automobile rates.

SURVIVES 133 DAYS ON RAFT

LONDON—(INS)—A new record of endurance was disclosed with the official award of a British Empire Medal to Poon Lim, 25-year-old Chinese seaman who survived 133 days on an open raft in the South Atlantic.

The coveted decoration was awarded, in the words of the citation, for "exceptional courage, fortitude and resource in overcoming the tremendous difficulties with which he was faced."

No shipwrecked sailor has ever lived so long at sea before. The nearest approach was when an American and two Dutchmen survived 87 days on a raft in the South Atlantic.

DEPORT BEAVERS TO LOUISIANA

NEW ORLEANS—(U.P.)—Lonesome beavers are sitting disconsolately in North Louisiana swamps today, torn from their homes by the American war effort.

Living close to civilization in bayous near Baton Rouge and New Orleans, they had acquired a strong taste for corn on the cob. With state laws protecting them, they thumbed furry noses at irate victory-gardeners.

The patriotic conservation department then took a hand. Hundreds were trapped, carefully boxed and transported to wilder, cornless portions of the state.

STOCK MARKET TRADERS CAN'T MAKE UP MIND

Irregularity Persists In Transactions; Bank Clearings Take Jump.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Mild irregularity persisted in today's early stock market transactions.

Up a trifle at a moderately active opening were U. S. Rubber, Southern Pacific, Deere, Johns-Manville and Pennsylvania. Declines were posted for Consolidated Edison, General Motors, N. Y. Central, Reynolds Tobacco "B," Montgomery Ward, North American and Woolworth.

Boardrooms were encouraged by a jump in the nation's bank clearings to a 13-year high during the week ended Wednesday. The increase of 33.1 per cent over the like period a year ago was attributed mainly to purchasing of the new federal bonds. The total was $10,831,108,000, a peak since Oct. 2, 1930.

THEATERS

Story of Love and War.

Merle Oberon and Brian Aherne are co-starred in the roles of lovers, who must renounce their personal lives for the exigencies of war, in "First Comes Courage" showing at the Madison theater. Adapted from Elliott Arnold's best selling novel, "The Commandos" the locale is a mythical village on the southwest coast of Norway which is groubd under the heel of Nazi domination. Cofeature is "Submarine Alert," the story of the message that failed because a courageous G-girl and a guy whose heart belonged to Uncle Sam sprang the trap that caught a mess of enemy agents

Picture Ends Run.

Ending its run at the Ohio theater is "The Sky's the Limit," latest Fred Astaire picture starring Joan Leslie as his new dancing partner. Robert Benchley heads the supporting cast and Freddie Slack and his orchestra supply the music. Two notable dance routines by the two stars and a spectacular solo number by Astaire, along with new tunes by Johnny Mercer and Harold Arlen are featured in the picture.

Makes Screen Debut.

Eros Volusia, famous interpreter of native Brazilian dances, introduces her artistry on the screen for the first time in the new Abbott and Costello picture, "Rio Rita," now at the Ritz theater. The picture is a hilarious one with Bud Abbott and Lou Costello supplying the laughs. Kathryn Grayson and John Carroll counterbalance the mirth with romance and music. Second feature on the bill is "All By Myself" starring Rosemary Lane, Patric Knowles, and Evelyn Ankers.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Meets Saturday—The Richland county health board will hold its monthly session Saturday at 1:30 p. m. in the health department offices at the city building.

Meets Sunday — The Vesper club of the Y. W. C. A. will meet Sunday at 5 p. m. at the "Y" building. Election of officers will be held and plans for coming programs will be discussed.

Fire At Dump—Firemen from Central station put out a blaze at 7:30 a. m. today at the city dump between Sturges avenue and Wood street where flames were spreading through dry rubbish.

Schedule Shoot—The Mansfield Muzzle-Loader Rifle club will hold a shoot Saturday at 1 p. m. at its grounds on U. S. Route 30-S, three miles west of the city, Paul I. Hauserman, secretary-treasurer of the club, said today.

Faces Charge—Adolph Franklin Patton was returned to Richland county today from Painesville by deputy sheriffs. He was arrested on a warrant out of mayor's court in Shelby for failure to provide for minor children.

Rehearsal Set—Air raid wardens and other civilian defense workers who will participate in the OCD show Oct. 3 at Stadium field were asked today to bring their helmets, arm bands, and other equipment along when they rehearse Friday night at the fairground.

Willard — The War department today announced that Pfc. George F. Schlotterer, son of Mrs. Lucille Schlotterer, of Willard, had been wounded in action in the North African area. It was presumed that Pfc. Schlotterer was either in Sicily or Italy with U. S. forces.

Cars Towed Away—Police yesterday afternoon and this morning ordered three cars towed to a garage after the automobiles had been parked for several days on city streets. One of the cars, parked on North Walnut street, had been there for a week with a traffic tag on it. Another was moved from First and Mulberry streets and the third from East Third street and Franklin avenue.

Speeders Cited—Three drivers, all from outside Richland county, were arrested last night on U. S. Route 42 northeast of Mansfield for speeding. John D Clancy, Lockland, O., a Greyhound bus driver, was ordered to appear in Ashland police court today. The others, Arthur Landon, Columbus, and Harry Rothman, Chicago, posted $16 bond at Ashland and were released. State highway patrolmen, who arrested the trio, said Clancy and Landon were driving 65 miles an hour and Rothman was clocked at 75.

CHAPTER XXIX

Near the mouth of the pass Bob caught Willie May's buckskin and brought it back to her. From his neck he took the bandanna and gave it to the girl.

"We'll have to send some of the boys to bring him in," he said gently.

She covered the face of Hiram Sugg with the handkerchief. Bob helped her to mount. They had to detour their horses to keep from riding over the sprawled body of Jake Hickory. Willie May's eyes falling on the upturned, passion-distorted face, were averted quickly. Less than half an hour earlier the lax prone figure had been filled with violent life intent on destroying her.

Bob led the way. This was new country to him, but he was sure of the way. If they kept traveling southeast they must come to the plains. They wound around in the hills, sometimes going for a short distance in the opposite direction from their destination. Bob noticed that his companion's head and shoulders drooped. She was worn out, more from the nervous strain of her shocked system than from actual physical weariness.

They ascended, by an angling approach, a long low ridge commanding a stretch of baked valley. A rider was turning out of this into a draw studded with young cottonwoods. The man was Red Yocum, a JAB cowboy. A shout made him slue around and pull up. He met them on the lower ground he had just left.

He looked at the girl. "By golly, you got her," he cried. "Been lost in the hills, I'll bet. Well, I'm certainly glad to see you safe, Miss Broderick. Yore paw is half crazy."

"I want you to get word to him that Miss Broderick it found," Bob told him.

"Y'betcha!" He grinned happily at his employer's daughter. "I'll be sure of a welcome from the old man this time."

Willie May smiled. She wanted Yocum to carry the memory of that smile as reassurance to her father. "How beautiful upon the mountains are the feet of him that bringeth good tidings," she quoted. "Tell my father Bob Lee saved me from the Hickorys."

"Did them skunks have you?" Red asked.

"I'll tell you all about that later," Bob promised. "Find Mr. Broderick and tell him he needn't worry any more. And keep yore eyes open. Cass Hickory is somewhere in these hills. He's scared and touchy — would be mighty likely to shoot on sight."

"Got a couple of brothers, hasn't he?" Red wanted to know. "Why pick on Cass and leave them out?"

"He hasn't any brothers now. Jake and Bart have been killed."

Red stared at him. "Holy mackerel! Who did that job?"

Rush Greer shot Bart. I got Jake!"

The surprised cowboy wanted to ask six questions at once. He compromised on a statement. "Why, Rush is one of the gang. You must of got yore facts mixed, Bob."

"Tell you all about it when we have time, Red. Better go spread the news. And if you see Greer lay off him. He helped Miss Broderick."

A mystified Yocum went on his way. He met two other searchers before he got in touch with Broderick and he told both of them to get word to others that Miss Broderick was found.

At the rim-rock Bob and Willie May saw two more riders, both of whom cantered away to broadcast the tidings of the rescue.

Willie May scarcely had time to bathe and dress in fresh clothes before her father and the JAB men came riding in to the ranch house. During the early part of the hunt he had sworn dire punishment for her, but the long hours of searching had burned out his choler. He was thankful to have her back on any terms. She flew into his arms and he petted her. She told the story of her adventures without sparing herself or the man who had fascinated her.

Willie May was deciding bed would be a delightful place when Curt Simon and three of the other JAB men reached the ranch house with a prisoner. Broderick told them to bring the man into the big living room his daughter was just leaving. At sight of the man with wrists tied she walked up to him and put her hands over his. The cowboys stared in astonishment.

"I want to say before all of you that Rush Greer sat up all night to make sure the Hickorys would not hurt me," she said in her low husky voice.

The outlaw smiled. "You told me yore father would have a job for me, so I drapped in to collect it," he said.

"Where did you pick up Greer?" Broderick asked Simson.

"Close to the salt flats. Dick shot his horse and it pinned him down so he couldn't get his rifle."

Broderick was embarrassed. He was a law-abiding citizen, and he could not object to what his men had done, but he was at that moment much more a father who felt under obligation to this outlaw. He could not tell Simson to free the man nor could he not turn him over to the law for punishment.

They heard horsemen riding into the yard. One of them clumped into the house. He stood in the doorway and took in the scene.

"I heard you found Miss Broderick, J. B." he said. "That's fine. I'm sure tickled. But I hadn't been told you had nabbed one of the bandits we've been lookin' for. That's good too."

Broderick cleared his throat. "We'll have to talk about that, Marshal Carson," he replied. "Fact is, I owe a lot to Rush Greer. It would be pretty scummy payment for me to hand him over to you with his hands tied."

The marshal looked at the cattleman out of cold hard eyes. "What do you owe him, Broderick?"

"My daughter thinks he saved her life from the Hickorys." The Texan met the other's gaze steadily. "You owe him something, too, Whit. He killed Bart Hickory and saved you the trouble."

"When?"

"About four or five hours ago."

"Suppose you tell me the story. Then I'll know what you are talking about."

Bob Lee had come into the room. Broderick turned to him. "You tell him the story, Bob."

Lee told it, giving his own acts small credit.

The marshal swung around on Willie May. "Seems to me this is yore story, Miss Broderick. How about this man Greer? Was he throwing out an anchor to help him later if he got caught?"

The girl flushed hotly. "No, he wasn't. He was saving my life at the risk of his own. There were three of them, but he told them flatly they couldn't touch me while he was alive. Those were his words. He broke away from the Hickorys, and afterward he killed one in a fight. That's not all. While he was still free he signed a paper saying that Cle Hightower shot Sam Hickory in self-defense." She swung round on Lee. "Where is that paper, Bob?"

Bob took the paper from his pocket and handed it to Carson, who read it slowly:

The Chokta Indian Hightower was attackted by four of us in Judson's store. Sam Hickory started it. Judson and Dike Sims lied. Judson was scared to tell the truth. I sware this.

Rush Greer.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes of filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

NAZIS SCUTTLE 30 VESSELS IN NAPLES HARBOR

ing of Naples by German demolition squads. The sound of frequent explosions from the smoking city rolled over the hills toward the Americans and British.

"Fires have been burning along the docks for several days, apparently as the result of demolitions," said the announcement which was based on aerial reconnaissance. "Charges were seen to burst along the docks."

Aerial photographs also showed a large industrial area north of the docks had been wrecked by bombings and the railroad yards demolished.

"The extent to which this is going on indicates the enemy is determined to make the big port, one of the largest and best peace-time harbors in Europe, completely useless to Allied troops when they occupy it," the announcement stated.

(The German communique today admitted "a dent made by the enemy in our positions near Contursi" but claimed the break was "cleaned up in counter-attacks. The enemy has brought up fresh forces in the eastern sector of the front without, however, so far commencing an attack."

(Contursi is between Acerno and Avigliano and apparently somewhat to the rear of the new Allied line.

(The BBC in a broadcast recorded by NBC, said the American Fifth army had captured Contursi, 26 miles southeast of Salerno.)

North and northeast of Salerno the Germans were putting up a stiff and stubborn battle on the direct, shoreline route to Naples and little advance was made.

"With the first phase of the battle of Italy, which took place at Salerno, over, both our forces and the Germans are in the same positions as boxers sitting on the corner preparing for the next round," a military spokesman said.

He explained that both sides were regrouping for the next blow.

Meanwhile the northwest African air forces held to their task of mopping up Nazi communications leading to the Naples area, with Mitchells, Marauders and Invaders striking at bridges, road junctions and moving transport.

During the day, American P-40 Warhawks swooped on enemy shipping in the Gulf of Manfredonia, 60 miles northwest of Bari on Italy's east coast.

The air command announced medium bombers attacked bridges, road junctions, gun positions and troop concentrations in the battle area yesterday while fighters and fighter-bombers made patrolling sweeps.

Railroad communications and installations inland from the seaside resort of Formia, 35 miles up the coast from burning Naples, were attacked by bombers last night. Two Allied aircraft were listed as missing.

Freed Prisoners Aid Italians, Report

(By United Press)

The London radio, quoting Radio Morocco, reported today that 20,000 British and American prisoners of war who had been liberated by the Italians have joined Italian patriots fighting the Germans.

Yank Planes Smash German Airdromes

CAIRO — (U.P.) — Liberator bombers of the Ninth U. S. air force bombed German-held airdromes at Maritza, Rhodes, and at the ancient Greek city of Eleusis yesterday destroying several planes on the ground, a communique announced today.

Five enemy aircraft were set afire on the ground and another blew up at Maritza where hits were scored on the runway and hangars. At Eleusis, 12 miles northwest of Athens, bursts were observed on the main runway and a fire was started among a group of planes. No German fighter opposition was encountered in either attack.

British Wellingtons attacked the air fields at Maleme, Crete, Tuesday night and started fires in aircraft dispersal areas.

No Allied planes were lost.

Graziani Gets Job In Fascist Set-Up

LONDON—(AP)—The Berlin radio said today in a Rome dispatch that Marshal Rodolfo Graziani had become minister of defense in "the new Fascist government" headed by Benito Mussolini as premier and foreign minister.

The Berlin broadcast said Guido Buffarini, former under-secretary of the interior, had been named minister and former under-secretary of finance Domencio Pellegrini was named finance minister.

Graziani, one of the Italian army's highest ranking officers, had previously held a number of posts, including the viceroyship of Ethiopia and the governorship of Libya.

Million Yanks In North Africa, Claim

MADRID —(INS)— The Vichy correspondent of the official Spanish News Agency today reported what was termed "confidential information" to the effect that the American army in North Africa now totals 1,000,000 men.

At the same time it was asserted that the British have 500,000 men in that theater.

Nazis Make Mussolini Premier Again

LONDON —(U.P.)— The German Trans-Ocean News Agency said today that Benito Mussolini had become premier and foreign minister in a new Nazi-supported Italian Fascist government.

The formation of the regime, disclosed in a Nazi dispatch from Rome, had been foreshadowed by Hitler's rescue of Mussolini from confinement north of Rome and the ousted duce's radio speech last Saturday seeking to discredit the House of Savoy.

The new Nazi puppet regime originally was described as a "Republican Fascist" government, but the word "Republican" later was dropped. Mussolini was reported to have gone to Italy to set up the new government to fight on beside Germany and Japan.

GOING UP?

Cannon Says National Debt Limit Must Be Raised.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Chairman Cannon (D.) Mo., of the house appropriations committee declared today that another increase in the national debt limit is inevitable on the basis of an official estimate, that the war will cost at least 300 billion dollars.

This estimate, he disclosed, is based on a "general belief" that Germany will be defeated by next fall and that Japan will be out of the war by the fall of 1945.

The federal debt limit was increased from 125 to 210 billion by an act of congress last April.

The house ways and means committee said it had received no requests for legislation to boost the debt limit. Cannon himself said that it was "impossible to say" when an increase would be asked.

JUST TOO MUCH

HYANNIS, Mass. —(INS)— It was only a woman passengers' suit case, but the bus driver nearly dislocated an arm trying to swing it aboard.

Puffing from exertion, he asked: "Lady, what on earth makes this case of yours so heavy?"

Beaming a sympathetic smile upon the driver, the woman said:

"Oh, that's Cape Cod beach sand. I'm taking a little home to my children in New York."

north shore and also on nearby Saga Karasa island to move within artillery shelling distance of the Japanese garrison at Vila across Blackett strait on Kolombangara. Japanese guns at imperiled Vila immediately opened fire.

Sixty miles northwest of Lae at Kaiapit, which airborne Australians captured Sept. 18, headquarters disclosed that a Japanese patrol of 200 was encountered the night of the transport landings. The Aussies killed 120 of the enemy and routed the others.

Widespread air blows of the Allies augmented the latest ground operations. In the Madang sector northwest of Finschhafen, the already disrupted supply road took a new pounding Tuesday which doubled the bridges destroyed to eight.

Across Dampier strait from Finschhafen, Liberators dropped 60 tons of bombs on the airdrome at Cape Gloucester, New Britain, and other planes raided the airdrome at Gasmata.

Reveals Army, Navy Planes Joined Raid

PEARL HARBOR —(INS)— Aircraft carriers of the United States Pacific fleet and land-based army and navy airplanes joined in a concerted assault which heavily damaged four Jap bases in the central Pacific, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz revealed today.

In a new communique expanding a previous official announcement that Tarawa in the Gilbert group and Nauru, west of the Gilberts, had been blasted last weekend, the commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet disclosed that two other points in the Gilberts, Makin and Apamama, also were attacked.

The admiral said that more than 200 sorties were flown against the four enemy bases and that in addition to the damage wrought on the Jap fortified points at least 32 enemy aircraft were destroyed or damaged at a cost of only four American planes.

The combined attacks were made during the night and day of Sept. 17-18 by carrier-based and land-based army and navy aircraft from various bases in the central and south Pacific areas.

Tokyo Tries to Rally Behind Tojo Plan

NEW YORK — (AP) — Tokyo broadcasts today, the Office of War Information said, indicate Jap propagandists have begun an intensive campaign to rally their people behind the newly announced program to mobilize the nation's fighting spirit.

The controlled Tokyo press automatically reacting to the program laid down by Premier Hideki Tojo in a radio speech yesterday, issued simultaneous appeals to the Japanese people to back up the government, the broadcasts disclosed.

Stress was laid on Tojo's demand that the nation's labor power be mobilized to the utmost and that the airplane and munitions output be increased.

In his radio speech the Japanese premier announced that unnecessary government offices, factories, schools and civilians would be evacuated from Tokyo and other large cities as a precaution against expected air raids.

Tojo, according to the OWI recording of a Domei dispatch, warned the Japanese people that the United States and Britain are "persistently attempting to counter-attack us with the intention of overwhelming imperial Japan . . . by overcoming every possible difficulty," and that "the war situation is gaining in ferocity day by day."

In a dispatch reported to OWI, Domei said the new Japanese manpower mobilization program calls for the substitution by next May 15 of women for all men between the ages of 14 and 40 inclusive, in at least 25 "less-essential" occupations. The displaced men will be moved into the armed forces or war industries, Domei said.

Japs Hopping Mad Over Appointment

(By International News Service)

The Japanese were hopping mad today over the appointment by the United States of Charles P. Taft as head of post-war rehabilitation work in certain Japanese-occupied areas of the Far East.

Nipponese propagandists declared indignantly that it would be just as "ludicrous" for Japan to name Mitsuru Toyama, leader of the notrorious "Black Dragon society," as mayor of New York "after occupation by the Japanese forces."

The criticisms were voiced in a broadcast of the Jap Domei agency reported by the federal communications commission.

Claim Two U. S. Ships Are Set Afire

(By United Press)

A Japanese broadcast asserted today that Japanese naval fliers attacked and set afire two American cruisers and scored near hits on two others in a raid along the New Guinea coast near Hopoi Tuesday.

A Tokyo broadcast heard by the United Press at San Francisco said American planes engaged in a "belated counter offensive," which assertedly cost eight fighters. The Japanese admitted damage to four of their planes.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 23, 1943.

It may some day be fashionable to extend invitations like those said to be given in England; "How about bringing your wife and some dinner over to our house tomorrow evening?"

"Freedom and a single eye for the truth are enough to secure an incomparable future." So said the philosopher, George Santayana, of one of our universities. It applies to individuals and countries, also.

True Nazi Behavior

ANY AMERICAN who was ever in doubt of the kind of enemy we face can find his answer in the Nazi burning of Naples.

Here was a city—and the past tense is used advisedly—that was old when Christianity was born; a city steeped in tradition, history and culture.

But the Nazi intruders—who never gave a thought to any of those things—hesitate not a moment to apply the torch to the city, if it seems to them to serve any military purpose.

The word "ruthless" has been applied to the Nazis time and time again—as a matter of fact, it is one of their own favorite words when they describe the kind of war they expect to inflict on a helpless and prostrate nation.

Does anyone doubt that Rome can escape a similar fate if the Hitlerites have anything to say, or do, about it?

Can anyone doubt, in view of the fate of Naples and the probable fate of other cities that are treasure chests of historic significance, how sternly we shall have to deal with the Nazis when the final day of reckoning comes?

Can it be anything less than "unconditional surrender"?

In view of the bestial performance of the Nazis in Italy, doesn't even that seem mild?

The Swing of Battle

THE SURGING of German and Russian armies back and forth in this great war is so vast that it is on a continental scale. The line north and south, crooked but continuous, runs for a thousand miles or more. Similar fighting lines have been seen before, but not lines which at the same time were so vast and so maneuverable. The nature of the terrain, mostly open and flat, suggesting our own western prairies, makes that possible.

How many times have those rival armies, stretching themselves thin, swept thus east or west on similar lines, within recent memory? It would be interesting to look up, in the history of the last war and this one. The great continental rivals have covered a lot of territory and worn out a lot of shoe leather and travelling equipment.

The Russian retreats, or technical withdrawals as many tacticians prefer to call them, have often been described in the picturesque phrase, "trading space for time." They have fallen back again and again, in order to restore their losses and regroup their forces, preparatory to another advance. Their present westward surge, after a vast retreat, is another striking example.

What will be the end of this new advance? It is a great battle, and also a great German retreat. The Nazis may be driven back to their own borders, and held there incapable of another eastward surge. Is it the beginning of a new phase, in which the Fatherland will be literally "ringed about with foes" as the Germans used to say, in justification of their own sorties? We shall see before long.

Edible Plates

OLD LICENSE plates and used razor blades have presented a question to the orderly citizen. The scrap metal drive was deservedly popular because it solved that problem. But of late some states, Illinois for one, have been making their plates out of plastic. Some drivers used to line their garages with old plates, forming a kind of frieze, but that idea was no help to the motorist whose garage was simply his back yard.

Now comes a solution for the disposal of the old plastic plates. "Feed them," says John Nash, chief clerk of the Illinois automobile department, "to your livestock. They are made of a fiber plastic which cattle and hogs will eat. That way you get rid of a useless article and solve your feed problem at the same time."

Goats were formerly supposed to eat anything in the rubbish line, but not every family cared to own a goat. If this fiber plastic idea spreads, life may be simpler. But how far will two plastic plates a year, or even six, go to support the livestock?

Lies As Weapons

IT SHOULD be realized, more clearly than it is, how much the enemy fights with lies. In both the European and Pacific areas it is regular procedure. And in this game the European liars are likely to be more intelligent and effective than the oriental ones.

One of the most cruel examples of this Ananias type of warfare is found in short wave broadcasts from enemy countries, which profess to give information regarding American war prisoners. There are many such reports of Americans wounded or captured, and living under hard conditions in enemy countries. The Red Cross, which has investigated many such reports, says they are likely to be false. They are spread by the enemy in an effort to undermine American morale at home and among the armed forces.

The Red Cross advice is to ignore such reports.

Money for Soldiers

DON'T send a check to your favorite fighter for a Christmas gift. The chances are that he will find himself in a place where he cannot cash it. Send him a postal money order instead, for that he can always use.

It is hardly necessary to add that the Christmas shopping for men—and women—overseas ought to be nearly finished by now. If it isn't, better hop to it in a hurry. Uncle Sam closes the army Christmas mails Oct. 15, navy Nov. 1.

If the boy wants a hunting knife, keep it well under fifteen inches in length—he doesn't want a dagger and he already has a bayonet. What he wants is that eight-inch knife with stout handle, strong and sharp, with which he can cut underbrush and clean fish. Other uses are incidental.

Keep the packages small. Don't send food unless fruit or spice cake in tin. Send him a cigaret-lighter if he wants it—but not the fluid. The postoffice will not take anything combustible or dangerous to other mail.

"IF YOU KNOW OF A BETTER 'OLE—!"

Churchill Talk Bares Plans For Working Out of Post-War Pattern

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

BRITISH PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL has the knack of hitting the nail on the head, as he again demonstrated in the manner in which he drove home the points of his notable two-hour war report to the house of commons.

Outstanding was the premier's warning of the need of cordial relations between the Anglo-American allies and their Russian colleague—a subject which long has been driving many timid statesmen to the hurricane cellar. He broached the matter by announcing that not only will there be a conference of representatives of America, Britain and Russia "at an early date" but that this will be followed by a Roosevelt-Stalin-Churchill parley, and of this latter project he said:

"No meeting during this war could carry with it so much significance for the future of the world as a meeting between the heads of the three governments, for without close, cordial and lasting association between Soviet Russia and their great allies we might find ourselves at the end of the war only to have entered upon a period of deepening confusion."

Mr. Churchill thus approached a great issue which is causing increasing anxiety—that is, the need of ironing out important differences in viewpoint between the Anglo-American partnership and our Soviet ally. These problems are largely political and unless they are solved they will bode no good to a post-war world which will be entering a new epoch in the progress of mankind.

To my mind, the fundamental fact to which all parties must adjust their outlook is that Russia's star seems to be leading her straight to domination of most of Europe and Asia after this war.

Look at it whatever way you will—politically, economically or militarily—and the answer is the same. This vast, self-contained, invulnerable empire will be the most powerful unit of the eastern hemisphere. That's a decree of fate, and the only way to meet it is to recognize it and strive for a frank understanding.

Among the questions on which the Soviet and the western allies appear to be rather far apart is that relating to the method of handling the defeated Axis countries, and especially as regards the treatment of Germany. America and Britain demand unconditional surrender, which would be followed by military occupation.

Moscow, on the other hand, has nodded approval of the activities of German officers and others in Russia who have formed committees and are trying to persuade the German people to overthrow Hitler and form a government which they hope might secure a negotiated peace. The signs are, too, that the Soviet doesn't care for the Allied plans for supervising Italy.

Underlying the issue of the post-war handling of both Germany and Italy there is, of course, the very big question of what form of government these countries ultimately will adopt for themselves. From what fount will they draw their inspiration?

Then there's the question of the Balkans, which Russia regards as within her sphere of influence but which also figures in Britain's interests in the Middle East. And over in Iran (Persia) the old, old rivalry between Britain and Russia for domination of this strategically situated state is working overtime, as was made quite clear to me during my recent visit to that country.

More than incidentally, many observers hold that Russia has her eye on the Persian gulf to provide her with one of the warm water ports which she needs so badly.

So it goes, and the further we proceed in surveying the position the more apparent does it become that there must be a mighty lot of give and take among the Allies if grave difficulties are to be avoided. That must be negotiated before the end of the war, for afterward may be too late.

Dave Boone Says:

IT's HARD for the tourist trade to think of Venice being bombed as reported. A rumor that a man who looked like Hitler was in a gondola on the Grand canal wouldn't do it. The Nazis must have been using Venice for something more serious than that.

* * *

Those rushing Russians continue to sweep ahead. They now claim 1,000 villages around Kiev. One thing about Joe Stalin is that he never mentions an item of a hundred villages a fight. He only starts counting at 800.

* * *

That speech by Winnie Churchill was an all-out effort. He had to split it in sections to allow for lunch. It was so full of meat I don't see why anybody had to go out for lunch. They could get all the nourishment from the speech.

* * *

Well, leave it to the Nazis to go the limit to offend the world. Through their puppets in Italy they now attack the Vatican and threaten everybody "from the Pope to parish priests." They accuse the church of "preaching Pacifism." A church on the Nazi model would have to preach war, slaughter and desolution, with special emphasis on the blitz.

It Says Here:

—By D. K. W.

WENDELL Willkie comes right out flat-footed and says: 'I'll run—if!" That's probably the most forthright statement from a presidential possibility since Cal Coolidge uttered his famous "I do not choose to run."

* * *

You think not? Well, look at FDR. He hasn't said anything while his friends and enemies were predicting just about everything. John Bricker hides behind the hedge of "I'll talk later." And Tom Dewey makes like he wants to keep on being governor of New York without being too serious about it.

* * *

But Willkie says: "Sure, I'll run if you give me the kind of platform I can honestly support." Maybe it ain't good politics to be so frank, but Willkie ought to know. They pulled him out of a hat the last time.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, Sept. 23, 1923.

Carl H. Stander and Henry L Goemann, opposing candidates for mayor, spoke at evening meeting at Main street Evangelical church.

Miss Florence Odenbaugh and Lloyd D. Miller, jr., were married at the bride's home, 212 Park avenue west, by Rev. A. M. Hughes.

Relatives and friends attended birthday dinner honoring Arthur Post at his home on Lexington avenue.

Marian and Eleanor Bradford left for Meadville, Pa., to enter Allegheny College for Women.

W. H. Warner arrived from Canton to manage Y. M. C. A. bowling alleys.

Richard Barthelmess and Dorothy Gish were featured in screen version of "The Bright Shawl," at Majestic.

Harmon McFarland, former Mansfield resident, died in Canton.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Maj. John Andre was captured, Sept. 23, 1780. He was 29 then, and adjutant-general of the British Army in North America.

Stimson Perturbed by Marshall Transfer Protest, Clears British

WASHINGTON—Secretary of War Stimson is a man of great composure, but he was visibly perturbed when a delegation from the senate and house military affairs committee called to protest the transfer of Gen. George Marshall from the position of chief of staff to become Allied commander-in-chief when the second front starts across the channel.

Secretary Stimson at first looked shocked that anyone knew about Marshall's impending transfer, but did not deny that it was in the works. He did deny, however, that it was being made at the behest of the British.

"A man should serve where he can render the greatest service to his country," Stimson told his callers.

His congressional callers, however, contended that to remove Marshall from the position of chief of staff, where he helped decide strategy for all war fronts, would be a blow to the war. They argued that he was the best qualified and most experienced man in the Army to decide strategy for all fronts, and that placing him in England would give him only one field of military operation.

They argued that Marshall not be moved at all, or if he must be moved, that he become General of the Armies, which would put him in charge of all American war policy.

Stimson listened carefully, said little. In the end, however, he observed that the matter was "still in the making" and asked his callers not to accept Marshall's transfer "as the completed thing."

OCD to Continue.

Rumors about OCD folding up now can be embalmed. Ever since the news leak on Jim Landis' appointment as State department co-ordinator in Cairo, it was reported that the office of civilian defense would be taken apart and the pieces given to the War department and Charley Taft for his Community War Services program.

Inside fact is that an executive order was drafted for this purpose but was blocked largely through the efforts of quiet but effective Harold Smith of the Budget bureau. He believed that although air raid duty would be lessened, there was a big job to be done by millions of volunteers both in War service work and Protective activity against accidents and fires.

So OCD's army of 11,000,000 volunteers now seems to be assured of continued organization and leadership for the duration. John Martin, a former Rhodes scholar, now serving as acting director of OCD, is young, 34, but tough-minded and hard-working. He thinks that OCD must be frank with the American people, that there is no longer much danger of serious bombing, but that there are other jobs to do. He has come up through the mill in OCD since the days of Mayris Chaney, Mrs. Roosevelt's dancing girl, at which time he and Jim Landis began to clean house.

Tires Go to Waste.

A scrap dealer named Morris Kaplan came bustling into the war production board the other day. He said:

"Look here. I've got an inventory of 450 tires in my place in Cambridge, (Mass.) today and they're gathering dust and getting in the way. I had more than that, but I took 200 tires and scrapped them just because I got tired of stumbling over them.

"Those tires," said Kaplan, "are good second-hand tires, and they ought to be put on somebody's car, not thrown out for scrap. But the red tape of rationing is too much for us, so they go for scrap."

Kaplan's tale fell on sympathetic ears in the WPB, where officials would like to move odd-size tires from second-hand dealers all over the country. But they are thwarted by the red tape of rationing. To get a tire of any kind—old, new, regular size or odd size—you must have a certificate from the ration board.

When a buyer starts that difficult routine, however, he decides that his troubles might as well be invested in the best kind of tire he can get, so he buys a new tire. Result is that the second-hand tires go unused, and are cluttering up junk yards all over the country.

WPB experts name New England as the worst area in this respect, other tough spots being New York state, Ohio, and the far south.

WPB's Dr. Warren Lee would like to change the routine and not require certificates for second-hand tires but OPA says all tire transactions must pass through ration boards, for registration of numbers.

Meantime, hundreds of thousands of usable tires are in the junk yards, getting too dry and hard for use in the future.

Super-Sleuth's Advice.

FBI's Super-sleuth, J. Edgar Hoover has a lecture which he delivers to his bureau chiefs every so often.

"Remember," he says, "that you're not bureaucrats. You're servants of the people. And now and then it's a good thing to get out of Washington and brush up on what the people are thinking and talking about.

"Desk-sitting in Washington," says Hoover, "is all right for a while. But after too long a time it makes a man think he's a little tin god. That's the first sign of that disease called 'bureaucracy,' and if you don't cure it right away it gets virulent. So nip it in the bud by getting out with the real people of the nation."

Hoover himself practices what he preaches. Three or four times a year, he gets away from Washington for a swing around his chief FBI offices. He has just returned from an inspection trip which took him through Detroit to the west coast and back.

"Sitting out under the Sierra mountains," says Hoover, "you look around and realize that despite the headaches of bureaucracy and the turmoil of war, this world has gone on a lot longer than any of us and will be here for a long time afterward."

Merry-Go-Round.

Dr. T. V. Soong, China's foreign minister, received the press for a conference at the embassy in Washington. As he was speaking, a photographer tried a close-up. "Will you wait till I finish?" said Soong. "You caught me with my mouth open. I might be a fly-catcher!" . . . A Southern belle who works in the office of civilian defense declined an invitation to a buffet supper given by Deputy Director Major General Ulysses S. Grant III. "With recollections of the Civil war," she declared stoutly, "I wouldn't be seen at a party with anybody named General Grant."

ERNIE PYLE

Roving Reporter

Mother Had a Sharp Tongue But a Warm Heart, And Her First Loves Were Her Home and Family.

DANA, Ind.—My mother would rather drive a team of horses in the field than cook a dinner. She has done very little of the first, and too much of the latter, in her lifetime.

My mother is living proof that happiness is within yourself, because she has done nothing for a whole long lifetime but work too hard, and yet I'm sure she has been happy.

She loves the farm. She wouldn't think of moving to town, as the other "retired" farmers do. She would rather stay home now and milk the cows than go to the state fair.

She is the best chicken raiser and cake baker in the neighborhood. She loves to raise chickens and hates to bake cakes.

She and my father took a trip east, and saw Niagara Falls, after they had been married 30 years. She didn't want to go, and was glad to get home, but she did admit she enjoyed the trip. The highlight of the journey (which included Washington and New York) was a night in a tourist cabin near Wheeling, W. Va. It was fixed so nicely inside, she said, just like home. She talks about it yet.

My mother probably knows as little about world affairs as any woman in our neighborhood. Yet she is the broadest-minded and most liberal of the lot.

I don't remember her ever telling me I couldn't do something. She always told me what she thought was right, and what was wrong, and then it was up to me.

When I was about 16 I forget and left my corncob pipe lying on the window-sill one day when I went to school. When I got home that night, she handed me the pipe and said, "I see you're smoking now." I said, "Yes." And that was all there was to that.

She thinks it's awful for women to smoke, but I imagine if she had a daughter who smoked, she'd think it was all right.

My mother is a devout Methodist and a prohibitionist. Yet she and my father voted for Al Smith in 1928, because they thought he was a better man than Hoover. Some of their neighbors wouldn't speak to them for months because they voted for a Catholic and a wet. But they didn't care. They are always doing things they think are right.

My mother never can get her big words straight. She calls the quintuplets the "quintriplets."

My mother has had only three real interests in her whole life—my father, myself, and her farm work. Nothing else makes much difference to her. And yet, when I left home 17 years ago, to be gone forever except for brief visits, she was content for me to go, because she knew I was not happy on the farm.

My mother has quite a temper. I remember once when the liniment man came, and said we hadn't paid him for a bottle of liniment. My mother said we had. The man said we hadn't. So my mother went and got the money, opened the screen door, and threw it in his face. He never came back again.

She always tells people just what she thinks. A good many of our neighbors have deservedly felt the whip of her tongue, and they pout over it awhile, but whenever they're in trouble they always thaw out and come asking for help. And of course get it.

My mother is the one the neighbors always call on when somebody gets sick, or dies, or needs help of any kind. She has practically raised a couple of kids, besides myself. She has always been the confidant of the young people around here.

This is another of the favorite Ernie Pyle columns from past years being reprinted while Ernie takes a rest from his duties as war correspondent. This one is about his mother, now dead.

I started driving a team of horses in the fields when I was 9. I remember that first day perfectly. My mother had gone to a club meeting, but she came home in the middle of the afternoon, and brought me a lunch of bread and butter and sugar out to the field. And also, I suppose, she wanted to make sure I hadn't been dragged to death under the harrow.

My mother doesn't realize it, but her life has been the life of a real prairie pioneer. You could use her in a book, or paint her picture, as one of the sturdy stock of the ages who have always done the carrying-on when the going was tough.

She isn't so well any more, but she seems to work harder than ever. We try to get her to rest. But she says, "Oh, the work has to be done." We say, "Yes, but you don't have to do it. Supposing you were gone, the work would still be here, but you wouldn't have to do it." But she doesn't understand what we mean.

A Farmer's Diary

By CALVIN A. BYERS

Air-Minded

ALONG a country road, near a dairy farm with red barns and white fences, I saw two boys, about 14, with model airplanes. One had parked his along the lawn, and was helping the other in an effort to give his toy a good take-off.

The plane had a six-foot wing spread, and a two foot propellor run by a small gasoline motor. So small the tiny engine was that I could have held it in my hand. The wee tank held no more than a quarter of a pint of fuel—a mixture of gasoline and lubricating oil.

The two boys were on their knees, as I came up, trying to start the engine. One cranked the propellor with one finger while the other produced a hotter spark with wires attached to two dry cells about four feet away. After the propellor swung in rapid motion, the wires were severed, and the engine ran on its own. Then one boy held the plane high above his head and shoved it off toward the pasture. The toy quickly lost momentum when the engine stopped and crashed into the rag weeds and wheat stubble.

The boy's mother and a young man with a camera were there too. My own four boys came trotting from our parked car. The audience was deeply interested.

Again the youth cranked with one finger while the dry cell batteries were applied. Again it started with a roar, and while adjusting the speed, the whirling blades hit the boy's eager forefinger at the knuckle and partially paralyzed his hand. Blood flowed freely and he complained that one smooth tipped blade was shattered. With difficulty he cranked again, with the injured finger and tried another flight. The plane flew farther, but crashed as before.

Five different times the two boys tried it—each time without success. Then they held a conference, to find the trouble. "Last spring, one day," the mother said to me, "it flew all around that hill field above the house and climbed so smooth and high, like a piloted plane. The boy was proud that day, and I didn't blame him. It's his hobby—airplanes. He's got books and blueprints of all the different models. There's not a transport or a four motored bomber goes over but he drops everything to watch it. The pages of his school books are drawn full of planes. He thinks the farm is dull and slow—his world will be the sky."

"And how do you feel about that?"

She was an ample women—capable at dairying, I knew. Her answer was not sentimental, but quietly matter-of-fact.

"In a few years, when I see him pilot a big plane — or ride with him in one—I know I'll be proud of him. He'll go as far as any of them."

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"Of course you must realize they don't take a coupon."

BOSSES WOMEN

LONDON —(INS)— Ernest Bevin, British Minister of Labor, can claim he has given more orders to women and made them like it, than any man in the world. But there is a rub! And here it is, in his own words: "There is no man who has ever lived who has made more orders about women than I have." Bevin told a gathering of London nurses, "and there is no husband who has ever had more of his orders obeyed—that is, outside of my own home..."

CAMERA SLUNG UNDER PLANE FILMS ACTION

Former Hollywood Shutter Ace Given Credit For Installation.

(By United Press)

U. S. ARMY AIR BASE IN ASSAM — "Battle in the Air Over Burma—As Seen Through a Fighter Pilot's Gun Sights" could be the title of a film the War Department will soon have at its disposal.

In a belly tank slung under the sleek body of a P-40 has been installed a 35-mm. movie camera. When the pilot goes into action he merely presses the button on his dashboard and the entire action is filmed.

The camera's lenses are sighted on line with the 50-caliber guns in the wings," said Capt. Clifford M. Shirpser, 36, Los Angeles, Cal., a former Hollywood photographer, who designed the installation.

"Future audiences will see tracer bullets converge directly on an enemy fighter as it bursts into flame or they can watch Japanese army barracks go up in smoke when we swoop in low on ground missions."

The ship is flown by Capt. Charles G. Goff, 27, Three Rivers, Mich., who intends to take it along when fighters dive-bomb railroad bridges and ammunition dumps in Burma.

"We hope to use it to give new pilots a better idea of what they face," he said.

The entire camera looks—but for the plastic nose—like an ordinary belly tank.

Sgts. James K. Foley, 33, Mission, Tex., and William Gross, 38, Los Angeles, Cal., welded the composite parts into their present wind-resisting form. They say the whole weighs only 55 pounds and can be dropped if the ship has to be lightened.

They have built the film compartment to take as much as 400 feet of film and have put in lenses that give a far clearer view of the ground than even the pilot gets.

"Chunk and clinker" is the name they have given it—baby shark below the large one painted on the ship's nose.

FALLS ASLEEP, LOSES $2,700

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—(U.P.)— That was an expensive nap Johnny Barron, Bradentown, Fla., merchant mariner, had a few days ago on a Jacksonville bound bus. It cost him exactly $2,700!

He reported to Jacksonville police that he fell asleep as the bus was moving between Macon and Folkstown, Ga. When he awakened, his wallet was gone with the $2,700 it contained.

Barron found the wallet in the back of the bus, but the money is still missing.

YANKS KEEP IMPROVING

JERSEY CITY, N. J. — (U.P.) — Yank soldiers now are being issued waterproof wax-coated matches that will not melt unless the temperature goes higher than 160 degrees, shoelaces that won't mildew in jungle humidity, and khaki-colored gum wrappers that blend with the ground when discarded. Old type gum wrappers left telltale white marks for an enemy aviator.

COAST GUARD SEES ACTION WITH ALL INVASION FORCES

(By International News Service)

ABOARD A U. S. COAST GUARD ASSAULT TRANSPORT, in a Mediterranean Port. — A bunch of the boys were laughing down in the dining salon an hour or so ago over a cartoon they found in one of the Coast Guard publications.

It showed a Guardsman landing an assault boat somewhere in the Southwest Pacific and blazing away at the Japanese defenders with a machine-gun at the same time. The cutlines were: "And they told me I'd never leave Chesapeake Bay!"

Chances are a lot of folks still think that the Coast Guard protects the coast and let it go at that. The Guardsman in the cartoon had found out differently. The boys on this assault transport have known differently for a long time.

Some of them found it out last November, when they landed elements of the American Ninth division east of Algiers under heavy German aerial bombardment at the opening of the North African invasion. And if they needed any additional proof that their organization is now a striking force rather than a defensive patrol outfit they got it several weeks ago when they again used their assault boats to take American soldiers ashore on Sicily.

The Coast Guard has participated in every American amphibious invasion of the war to date and it certainly will be in on all of them in the future. Ability of the Coast Guardsmen to handle small boats made it certain that a good many of them would spend a very small portion of the war in Chesapeake Bay—or even in American territorial waters.

Perhaps it is unnecessary to separate the Coast Guard from the Navy, since it actually becomes a part of the Navy in wartime. Yet, the men of the Coast Guard retain their identity and although they work hand in hand with the Navy, many of them have the feeling that their own organization never gets credit for the share it contributes to the larger service's success.

And who are these men and officers of the U. S. Coast Guard? Well, they comprise a cross section of American citizens just like the other services do.

Yes, there are all types in the Coast Guard. There's Lieut. Commander James S. Hunt, for example. Hunt was an automobile dealer in Detroit before his country got into World War II, and he resided at 900 Whitmore Road in the Motor City. He has two boys, one of whom, Jim Hunt, jr., is in the Army's Armored command.

JOINS ARMY

BUTTE, Mont. —(INS)— George Old Elk, 29, enlisted in the U. S. army recently at the recruiting office in Butte. Hailing from Hardin, Mont., he was said to be the last surviving descendent of "Curley," famed government scout with Custer during the massacre on the Little Big Horn in the 1870's.

Curley was believed to be the only survivor of the historic Indian war battle.

GIVES SNAKE THE BRUSH-OFF

CAMP ROBINSON, Ark. —(U.P.)— Pvt. James H. Parsons has a reputation for imperturbability that is the envy of his fellow G. I's.

While out on bivouac, Private Parsons was searching for a mirror in his belongings, and pulled out a two-and-one-half-foot black snake. With a shrug of his shoulders he discarded it without the slightest trace of annoyance or surprise. Needless to say, his admiring brothers in khaki are not worried about what will happen if Parsons ever meets a Jap on a jungle road.

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

At Jeb Crowell's the other day, we were havin' a glass of beer or two and talkin' about the kind of world there'd be when Peace came.

"Hear they'll have trans-Atlantic airplanes flyin' regular as taxi service," says Ed Carey.

"Yep," says Will Frost, "and television and plastic cars and air-conditioned homes and super-duper highways."

Finally, Doc Mitchell chimes in. "You know," he says, "we're talkin' about the future in terms of luxuries—like air-conditioned houses and television.

"But what really will shape tomorrow's world is what goes on in men's own hearts . . . like tolerance and understanding."

And from where I sit, Doc's right. Whether it's tolerance of another's politics or respect for a neighbor's right to enjoy a glass of beer occasionally, tolerance is a mighty good foundation for a peacetime world.

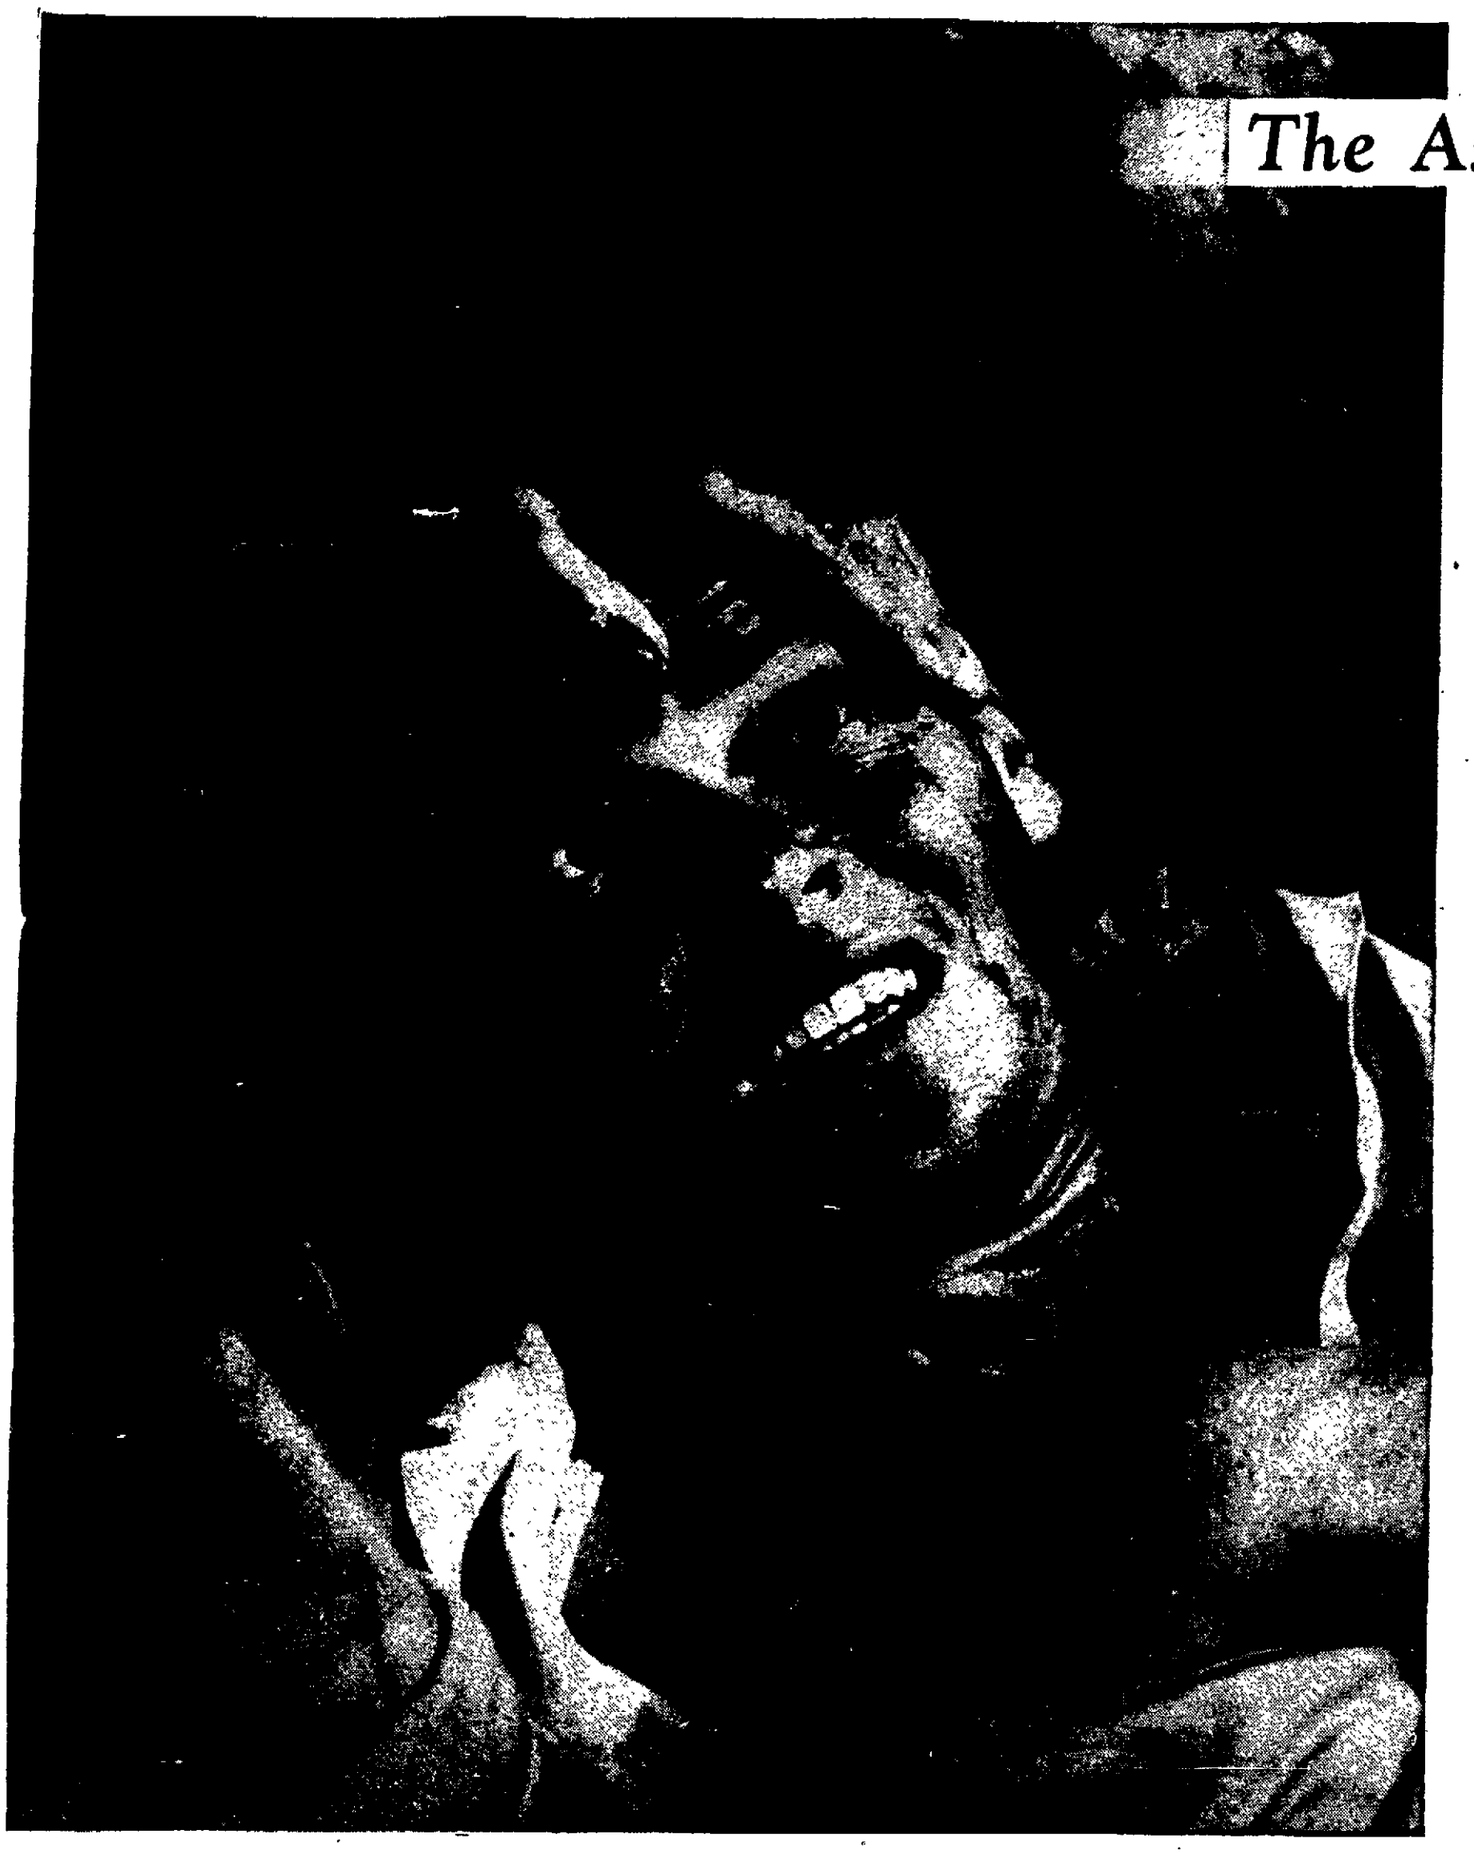
Today Is Axis Pay-Day— Are We Square With Them?



The Axis has a lot to be paid for Let's bury them in bonds

Pearl Harbor—dear God, can such quiet
And so soft a dawn crash into torture and sheer hell?
Men and women sleeping, or at early worship . . .
Children stirring in their beds . . .
Proud ships resting on still water . . .
Graceful planes at peace in dewy grass . . .

Japanese! With what terrible contempt they came,
Scornful of the sleeping might of America
That would rouse over the torn and hurt bodies,
The still and pitiful bodies of her children.
Are YOU square with Pearl Harbor?
Speak your answer with a bond—a BIG bond.

Manila—Bataan—Corregidor.
Don't bow your head in memory!
Clench your fists . . . Your blood should boil.
These terrible and tragic defeats are yet to avenge!
Little Japanese shaming your brothers and sons!
Rapacious little men strutting and swaggering in victory!
Are you square with Manila—Bataan—and Corregidor?
Buy a bond!—are dollars so dear to you
You'll keep them out of the fight? It's Axis pay-day!

Lexington, Cassin, Yorktown, Downes,
Hornet, Wasp, Houston, Chicago . . . Remember?
This is Axis pay-day . . . pay them with a vengeance.
How CAN you say you are doing your part
While YOUR DOLLARS lie idle in our hour of trial?
Dig down, dig IN, patriots, to pay the Axis off.
Let this day—WITH YOUR HELP—MAKE HISTORY.

It's EASY to Buy BONDS

You don't have to go through red tape to buy a War Bond. Walk into any store or other "issuing agent." Give your name and address, lay down your money. A form will be filled in and in no time you walk out with YOUR bond—proof that you're in the fight backing up our men at the front. A bond that cashes in for $25 in 10 years costs you only $18.75, a $50 bond costs $37.50, a $100 bond $75, a $1000 bond costs you $750. If you need it, you get your money back earlier—with interest. Buy now for a better future.

Are You a Side-Liner?

Are you in this war with both feet and your whole heart, or are you fighting a dabby little indifferent war with only part of your heart and resources? If all of America could be aroused to press forward with the same spirit our fighting forces show, the world would rock with America's redemption of her old birthright—the land of the free and the home of the brave! How brave are you in your bond purchases? Brave enough to buy another today?

★ Persisting German and Japanese dispatches say Americans are slacking their fight at home—holding and loving their dollars needed to fight the war. "America will have devastating inflation," they say, for Americans love their cash more than their country. Let's pay off the Axis by buying bonds—and get our money back with interest. Tomorrow, let the news declare that AXIS PAY-DAY was a great success—for AMERICA! Be sure to buy a bond today.

TEEN-AGE WOES CLASSIFIED BY 2 PROFESSORS

Youth Problems Fall Into 11 Groups, They Find After Survey.

(By United Press)

AUSTIN, Tex.—Teen-age problems fall into 11 major groups, two professors of the University of Texas found out when they applied scientific methods. Drs. A. L. Chapman and H. Wilson Little of the education staff asked 3,707 boys and girls in 39 schools over the nation to list five out-of-school problems that worried them most.

Returns recently compiled show that getting along with other people is a major concern. Their own personalities and family relations trouble them, and youth in general is bothered about money, transportation, part-time employment, choosing a career, health, how to use time, the dismal side of life, and morals.

Answers are confidential but the professors concluded that "Young people sometimes wonder about morals. No doubt their elders confuse them."

Generally the young people look upon the family car as an essential mode of transportation, so naturally gasoline and tire-rationing becomes a problem.

Withholding names of individual questioners, Drs. Chapman and Little cite some of the queries. Included are the following:

"Is it the right thing for a girl to smoke as well as a boy?"

"Is it best to finish high school or join the army?"

"How old should a girl be before she is allowed to go on dates?"

"How can I change my father's feeling toward the boys that I like?"

"If you are mad at your parents how can you avoid talking back to them?"

"Should I lie about my age to get a job?"

"Should I go to a woman's college or a co-educational college?"

Many of the replies to the questionnaire mailed by the professors merely stated problems without asking direct advice.

One wondered how to convince us parents that they cannot choose a vocation for him.

Financial worries of youth seem to be less concerned with having money than with the way it is doled out. One boy complained that his parents gave him spending money as he wanted it but would not give him an allowance, while another found that getting his money in a monthly allowance left him broke part of the month.

In these days war problems occupy the minds of many youngsters. Besides the lad who wanted direct advice on whether to go to school or join the army, was the youth who wrote that his family could not find a nice house in which to live in a war-boom community "and it embarrasses me."

SAGA OF SOUIE, 'SEAGOING PIG'

Mascot Aboard U. S. Warship Likes Strawberry Ice Cream.

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO—Herewith is the Saga of Souie, the Seagoing Pig.

Souie is the friend of thousands of soldiers across the Pacific. She is even known in Washington where the Navy is unwinding a bit of red tape to determine whether the pig, now aboard a ship in San Francisco, will be permitted to go ashore to indulge in life on a farm or perhaps give her life in the interests of national nourishment.

Souie was born on some little island in the Pacific, as she waits while regulations on the importation of foreign animals is cleared.

Her history dates back to April, when some sailors rowing ashore with Red Cross supplies confronted a ferocious looking wild boar. The seamen shot the boar, landed and found a frightened baby pig—Souie.

The piglet was taken aboad, cuddled and cared for. The sailors all loved her. Through the months she sailed the western seas as a mascot. But now Souie is grown, and unless the ship sails before Washington takes action, Souie has seen her last sea trip.

The sailor's are quite familiar with their mascot's likes and dislikes, her little quirks.

"She makes fine pictures. She's game and smart, minds like a dog," Third Steward Peter Rose of San Francisco told a cameraman. "We had to feed her from a bottle at first, but now she eats anything and everything. She knows where to get the food, too. The minute she's hungry it's off to the galley. Her favorite, though, is strawberry ice cream."

Souie, a dead-ringer for a Texas razorback shote, has always had the run of the ship at sea. She loves to ride in the elevator—signals by squealing. Even took a liking to the captain's berth—once.

"We've had letters from soldiers and army nurses all over the Pacific asking about Souie," Seaman Rose said.

The average soldier or sailor eats about 5½ pounds of food daily.

CHART OF MASSACHUSETTS BAY FOUND IN LONDON BOOK SHOP

(By International News Service)

BOSTON—The 210-year-old, original chart of Massachusetts Bay, long sought by New England historical and maritime societies, has returned to Boston from London, where it was discovered in a bookshop.

The chart now is in possession of Captain Alberto L. Kent, master of the S. S. Steel Pier, Boston to Provincetown steamer.

The chart was presented to Captain Kent, a deep water sailorman and ship's master for more than half a century, by Lieut. Edward Rowe Snow, Army Air corps officer and New England's famous "Flying Santa Claus."

Lieut. Snow, who quit a teaching post at Winthrop high school to join the air corps, located the chart in a tiny book shop near the Tower of London.

The army man and the seaman enjoy a long and firm friendship, which had its basis in their common interest in the history of New England's storied islands and harbors.

During a trip to Provincetown in 1926 with Captain Kent, the flyer learned of the chart drawn by Captain Cyprian Southack, famous pirate chaser.

Between the years 1720 and 1734, the Boston skipper surveyed the hundreds of square miles of water that make up Massachusetts Bay and the chart he produced is considered an excellent and accurate one, considering the crude instruments and the conditions under which it was made.

Research brought out several facts about the Southack chart. Snow learned that while many Yankee sailing masters had been supplied with the chart, that none existed in the United States. He did learn that an American collector had brought over a fragment of the chart from England in 1890.

Snow said he would locate an original Massachusetts Bay chart and that when he did, Captain Kent could tack it up in his pilot house.

The army flyer had the chart in mind when he went overseas with a Flying Fortress. As soon as he obtained leave, he made for London book stores. He recalled that he all but crawled up the aged walls of a store at Prince's Head while the proprietor searched through manuscripts and ancient volumes. Finally, the chart was found intact.

APPROACHING WEDDING ANNOUNCED AT PARTY

Friends of Miss Jo Ann Locke Learn of Plans for October Marriage at Announcement Party; Sister, Mother Act As Hostesses.

FRIENDS of Miss Jo Ann Locke learned of her approaching marriage at a lovely party given Wednesday evening in the home of her parents, Mayor and Mrs. W. J. Locke, 102 Sherman avenue. Associate hostess at the party was the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. J. R. Alexander.

MISS JO ANN LOCKE

Miss Locke plans to leave Mansfield sometime in October, for Benjamin Lee Field, Greencove Springs, Fla., where she will become the bride of Ensign James LeMunyon, jr. Ensign LeMunyon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. LeMunyon, 500 Woodward avenue.

Announcement of the engagement was made with the names of both the prospective bride and groom on the wings of a miniature airplane placed on the mantel, with the word October. The definite date of the wedding has not been set.

Five tables of bridge were in session during the evening. Traveling prize was awarded to Miss Lillian Art. Mrs. Cecil Reep won high score in auction. High score in contract was won by Miss Anna Jane Lloyd.

Luncheon was served buffet style from a long table centered with an attractive arrangement of garden flowers. Mrs. LeMunyon poured. Pink and green predominated in the color scheme. Favors at the small tables where guests were served were tiny bridesmaids. The favor at the place of the honoree was a bride and groom.

The hostesses presented Miss Locke with an electric gift and a comforter.

The first in the series of pre-nuptial parties honoring Miss Locke will be given at the home of Miss Kathryn Landfair, 28 Bahl avenue. That event will take place September 29.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Conversational Members Have Luncheon Meet

Miss Elizabeth Smurr was hostess Wednesday at a dessert-luncheon meeting held by members of the Conversational club at the Women's Club.

Mrs. J. H. Boyd, jr., and Mrs. Harold Bruce presided at the luncheon table which was attractively decorated with a fall flower arrangement.

"Color Strategy for Wartime America" was discussed by Mrs. Howard Diller. In her talk, Mrs. Diller brought out the uses of color in camouflage in wartime and the important part that color is playing in the defense plants and industries of today.

Mrs. Diller showed numerous ways in which color is closely associated with personalities and concluded her discussion with interesting color analysis charts for members of the club.

The next meeting will be a dessert luncheon at 1:30 p. m. at the Women's Club, Oct. 13. Mrs. Lee Twitchell will be the hostess at that meeting.

Pitfalls of Love

(A sequel to Marriage Meddlers)
By ADELE GARRISON

I caught back an excited exclamation as I realized the full import of my father's question. If he were sending for Lillian, he must have high hopes of Marion's rescue within a short time—higher than he thought it wise to transmit to Ronald, for fear of the effect disappointment over possible failure might have upon the harassed lad.

From somewhere within me I pumped up the ability to answer his query calmly and judicially.

Nurse Is Competent.

"Why not?" I queried in matter-of-fact tones. "Miss Whitlock is the type of nurse who can manage beautifully a dozen things—or persons—at once. And she has been long enough at the farm to study the children, Mother Graham and Katie, to say nothing of Jim and the Tiger family, and I'm sure she'll have them all under control.

"I'm wondering," I went on hesitatingly, "if Lillian's coming away may not lighten Miss Whitlock's burden instead of making it heavier. I imagine she devotes many precious minutes to keeping Lillian's courage up."

"I don't think your imagination is working very well in this instance," my father said smiling. "I agree with you that Lillian's presence at the farm is desirable only for her own peace of mind. But before I sent for her I wanted to ask your opinion about leaving your children with Miss Whitlock."

"I approve of the arrangement," I said definitely.

"Then that is all I need to know," he said. "I am not going to telephone her, for the less said about this over the telephone the better, and I have no doubt the gangsters know Marion's mother is at the farmhouse. But I told her when she went away that she was to hold herself in readiness to return whenever I should need her, although I made it plain that a summons did not mean I had any especial hope for Marion's speedy rescue. So she will not be startled when a messenger appears from me with instructions that she return with him."

I had a feeling that part of all this was for my benefit, and that he did not intend to raise my hopes either, no matter what he was planning.

Suddenly I took the bit between my teeth and ran away.

"Father!" I said breathlessly.

"Yes darling?" he queried.

"Won't you please remember something?" I asked, talking swiftly to keep my courage up. "I am not Lillian. While I am very fond of Marion, I have not the terrible urge of tragedy upon me that Lillian has. I am trying to help in every way I can, without questioning, but I wish you would please consider that I am neither a child, nor an emotional woman."

Eyes Are Intent.

His eyes were intent in their gaze at me, but I noticed with an upswing of my pulses that he was not frowning. He waited a second that seemed an hour, however, before he made any answer to my outburst. Then:

"I suppose what you are trying to tell me," he said at last, "is that you wish to know the details of Marion's projected rescue and what I think of the prospects."

"That is only part of it," I replied. "I do not wish to know your plans until you are ready to give them out. But I do wish to be given the same knowledge of them that Harry and Dicky have."

His tender smile illumined his face.

"Perhaps unconsciously I have been protecting you a bit too much," he said. "And I can see your point of view. After all, I have to call upon you frequently for aid in my plans, and I probably will have to lean very heavily upon you when Marion's rescue appears imminent. So, will you be satisfied if I promise you that Harry, Richard and yourself will be apprised of my plans at the same time, and that no one of you will have any more knowledge than the other two?"

"More than satisfied," I told him gratefully. "And I do not want you to think, father—"

"I am thinking nothing that is not exceedingly creditable to you," he said brusquely, "so suppose we say no more about it. Instead, tell me—how much more time do you think Ronald is going to take over that letter?"

"At the rate he was going, he ought to be over here any minute."

"I hope so," he said, "I want to get him safely out of the hotel before Harry arrives."

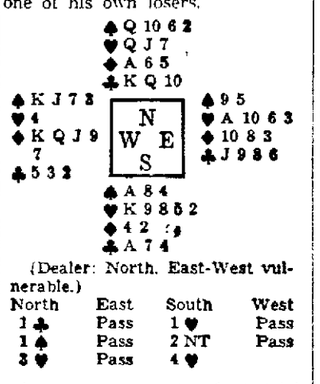
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

WORST MAY BE BEST

Among all possible bad plays on the defense against a suit contract, the worst is ordinarily supposed to be the lead of a suit in which both the declarer and the dummy are blank, so that a loser may be discarded from one holding while the other ruffs. There are rare occasions, though, on which such a lead may be the only possible means of setting a contract. Usually that will be when the partner of the leader is also blank in the suit chosen. That will give him then the option of over-ruffing if the intervening hand trumps, or else discarding one of his own losers.



(Dealer: North. East-West vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
1 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥

Upon winning the first trick with the diamond A, South counted up the losers and saw no chance to drop more than three tricks if the spake K happened to be with West. When East came in with the A on the heart Q, which was led to the second trick, the hand appeared to be a cinch. East led back the diamond 10 which held, and then the 8, which South ruffed with the heart 5.

Feeling not at all nervous, South now led the heart 8 to the J, and was shocked when West discarded. This did not seem to worry him, however, after a moment's thought. He then led to his club A and returned the spade 4, hoping West would end his worries by coming in with the K. Sure enough, he did, and all looked salubrious.

But West then led the diamond Q, to which nobody could follow suit. After a bit of brow-knotting, South realized that this licked him. If he trumped in his own hand, that would leave him only one trump to East's two, assuring the setting trick to East. So he ruffed with the dummy's heart 7. East thereupon discarded a spade, and so did South. But North could only take two clubs and had nothing left but three spades. When he led one toward the A, East ruffed, and the contract was killed.

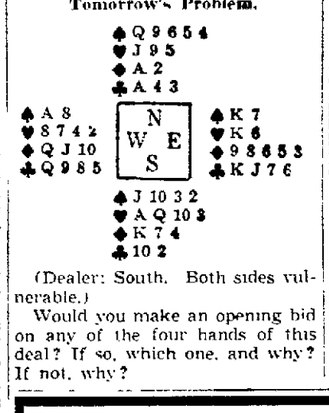
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

Would you make an opening bid on any of the four hands of this deal? If so, which one, and why? If not, why?

Classy Lassies Have Business Meet

Members of the "Classy Lassies" met at the home of Miss Evelyn Eichinger, 367 Bell street, for a regular business meeting conducted by Miss Mary Stover, Wednesday night.

The group decided to make a donation to a civic organization. Contests were the evening's diversion. Prizes were awarded to Miss Opal Heckert and Miss Marie Fleisher.

The next meeting will be held with Miss Fleisher, 353½ Sturges avenue.

Schedule of Events

SATURDAY

Wedding of Miss Elaine Downs, Robert C. Walter — St. Peter's Catholic church, 9:30 a. m.

Sorority Has Social Meeting At First Session

Resuming meetings after the summer vacation, the Alpha Epsilon chapter of Alpha Pi Sigma sorority met in the club rooms on Park avenue west for a combined business and social meeting with four new members who were recently formally initiated into the sorority as hostesses.

Hostesses were Mrs. John Goff, and the Misses Marjorie Sheehe, Mary Stover and Helen Boyer. The initiation took place at the Colonial Guest house when each member received a gift bearing the sorority crest.

During the business meeting last evening Miss Isabel Kass, former vice president, presided, filling the vacancy left by Mrs. R. L. Beal, president, who resigned. Mrs. M. D. Boyle was elected as the new vice president.

Mrs. Beal gave a report on the supreme chapter's convention which was held in Cleveland during July. Miss Jean Oswalt was appointed as the "Newsy News" editor for the remainder of the year, replacing Mrs. Robert Dawson who moved from Mansfield.

The sorority welcomed Mrs. Ann Tucker, who transferred her membership from the New Philadelphia chapter.

Following the business meeting a white elephant housewarming party was held, each member donating a gift for the furnishing of the rooms.

Bridge was in play at three tables with Mrs. R. D. Huffman and Mrs. Tucker winning score prizes. A buffet luncheon was served at the close of the evening.

The next meeting will be held at the clubrooms Tuesday, Oct. 5.

Bethany Class Has Election at Business Meeting

The Bethany class of the Mansfield Gospel Center held its regular monthly meeting and social hour at the home of Mrs. Clyde Swank, when election of officers was held. Mrs. Glenn was named as the new president.

Others, elected to serve with Mrs. Glenn were Mrs. Herschel Maglott, vice president, Miss Helen Blake, secretary; Mrs. Bamberger, treasurer and Mrs. Lewis Stambaugh, reporter.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Stambaugh. The diversion of the evening was games. Prizes were won by Mrs. Maglott and Mrs. Stambaugh. Luncheon was served at the close of the evening.

MRS. CHARLES BANG WILL SPEAK AT TEA

League of Women Voters to Hear Speaker at Membership Tea Saturday, Sept. 25; Hostess Will Be Mrs. E. R. Hartman.

THE Richland County League of Women Voters has completed arrangements for its annual membership tea to be given Saturday afternoon, from 3 to 5 o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. R. Hartman, 121 Marion avenue.

MRS. CHARLES BANG

Mrs. George Ingram, social chairman for the league, is in charge of all arrangements, and is assisted by Mrs. C. V. McConnell, Mrs. John Daley, Mrs. Howard Wenning, Miss Justine Sterkel, Mrs. G. L. Mitchell and Mrs. Henry Paulson, who has charge of the decorations for the event.

The tea is the one social meeting of the year, according to custom of the league, and members and guests are looking forward to the privilege of hearing as their guest speaker, Mrs. Charles Bang of Cleveland, president of the Ohio League.

Mrs. Bang has an unusual reputation as a speaker and public lecturer. She was heard in Mansfield some time ago in the Ohio theater when she reviewed the book, "The Family," by Fedorova.

Mrs. Bang was graduated from Wellesley college in 1929, and has done newspaper work for several years. She is, at present, first vice president of the Council of Jewish Women. She has been in charge of the council's international affairs group for several years. She also served as chairman of government and foreign policy for the Cuyahoga County League of Women Voters last year.

At 12:30 Saturday, the board members of the League of Women Voters will have luncheon with Mrs. Bang at the Women's Club.

NITELARK CLUB.

Members of the Nitelark club will meet at North Lake park pavilion for its regular session, Friday night, with Mrs. Lester Laser as hostess.

ENTER COLLEGE.

The Misses Vivian Clingan and Ethel Echelberger left Mansfield for Kankakee, Ill., where they will attend Olivet Nazarene college. A farewell party was given by the young people of the Church of Nazarene, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Mattox, 29 Mansfield street, recently for them.

Club Admits Twenty-Two to Membership

Twenty-two new members were given membership in the national organization of the Blue Star Mothers club when it met at the American Legion home with Mrs. Lola P. Hahne presiding at the business session.

Several committee chairmen reported on various activities. A new committee was appointed to take charge of the gifts to be sent to sons and daughters of club members who are in the armed forces, at Christmas.

The social hour was in charge of Mrs. H. J. Clark, and her assistants, Mrs. Floyd Dent, Mrs. Howard Almy, Mrs. F. D. Daugherty, Mrs. Floyd Dye, Mrs. Byron Chatlain, Mrs. Harry Constance, and Mrs. H. J. Bowman.

Anyone with a son or daughter in the armed forces, who is interested in becoming a member of the club is asked to join before Oct. 6.

A vote of thanks was given Mrs. Harry Constance as chairman, and her committee, for their co-operation at the recent food show.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, Sept. 24.

The affairs of this day are under excellent stimuli for quick advancement into new grooves of activity and unexpected accomplishment. Unique or unusual programs, projects or propositions may be on the way to spectacular success, despite opposition and trivial delays or difficulties. This possibly because of elders, superiors or through enmity. The inventive faculties should be under splendid urge for progress and worthwhile production, although there are strong slants of trends, with new contracts or agreements.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a very active and productive year, with novel and progressive plans and purposes under excellent promise for attaining unexpected success and benefits although there may be opposition, anxieties and set backs from influential sources. The faculties and energies may be well stimulated for original work of an inventive or scientific nature, culminating in public recognition or esteem.

OPEN HALF DAY

SHELBY - The United States Employment Service office at the postoffice in Shelby will open from 8 a. m. to 12 noon, R. I. Lewis, who is in charge of the office, disclosed today. The office had been open all day.

ASKS COUNCIL TO RAISE PAY

Mayor Recommends Increase From 65 To 75 Cents For City Laborers.

chairman of the committee on salary raises, said last week that he would attempt to arrange a council caucus on the pay question this week, but he explained today that so far he had been unable to get council members together for a meeting on the workers' request. Shultz said the mayor had called him today to suggest prompt action by council on the pay question.

The mayor said that higher wages paid in industry had made it almost impossible to hire workers for the garbage and street departments and if something wasn't done soon to raise the pay scale "we may have to let the garbage lay on the ground."

He did not elaborate on his statement that the morale of workers was low, except to say that many employes apparently were dissatisfied with the way their request for pay raises had been handled.

Books For Children

(Available at Mansfield Public Library)

Like a trip to the mountains, two stories, now at Mansfield Public library, bring to mind the life of the sturdy people who live in our southern highlands. One story took place a generation ago in Kentucky. The other could be happening now in the Great Smokies.

BARRIE AND DAUGHTER, by Rebecca Caudill — Fern Barrie could become her father's partner in his new store, but she would do so against her mother's wishes. There would be dangers surely because their rivals would be the Scollards. Fern's decision to work in the store and to try to make her mother understand her doing so brought Fern many exciting adventures. There were also happy times and friendships along the way.

BLUEBIRD, FLY UP! by May Justus—Glory and Matt lived on Little Twin mountain with their mother and grandfather. There were few neighbors and there was much work to be done. Whatever happened there was some time for fun. For those who prefer a mystery story this book is enlivened by the mystery of the missing dollar bill.

CUT DEMAND

Striking School Workers Say They'll Take $20 Monthly Raise.

TOLEDO — (AP) — Striking noneducational employes of the city board of education today reduced their demand for salary increases from $30 a month to $20 and rejected a board proposal to reopen schools which have been closed since Sept. 15.

The maintenance personnel also told the board they would work after Jan. 1 at the Sept. 1 wage level if a projected levy fails at the November election, or if the Ohio attorney general rules that the board can not legally borrow money to increase salaries.

town of Dikana, 15 miles to the north, and Golovach, six miles to the south. The German broadcast said Nazi troops destroyed all military installations in Poltava before they continued their retreat westward toward the Dnieper.

The Berlin radio said in a noonday news bulletin the center of gravity had shifted to southeast of Smolensk, the German central front bastion.

There, the Germans reported, the Red army was storming at Nazi positions with strong infantry and tank forces.

Bloody fighting was said to be raging west of Yelnya, some 40 miles southeast of Smolensk and in the Demidov region, 42 miles northwest of the key center.

Kiev, Russia's fourth largest city and keystone of the German defense wall on the Dnieper, was menaced from three directions as Red army forces continued to roll up victory after victory along the flaming 750-mile front.

Demidov, 42 miles northeast of Smolensk, was stormed by the Russians yesterday after one of the most sanguinary battles of the Soviet summer drive. Its capture, after two days of bitter fighting, elicited a special order of the day from Premier Josef Stalin, who called the northern bastion "one of the strongest German defense centers."

More than 8,000 Nazi troops were killed in the struggle for Demidov, a Moscow communique declared. Three hundred prisoners were reported taken and tremendous amounts of war material seized.

A three-way drive on Kiev, from the north, center and south was imminent, Russian front dispatches indicated, with the center push mounted from captured Berezan, 35 miles directly east.

On the Kuban bridgehead, far to the south, Anapa, one of the last escape ports from the Caucasus, was cleared of German forces who are now pushed back to the Kerch strait. The Moscow war bulletin said 1,200 Germans were killed and 200 captured in the bitter fight for this port.

300 Bankers Hear Talks on Impact of War on Banking and still maintain the status required of banks of your type."

Other speakers were Emerson J. Boyd, president of the Ohio Bankers association; W. L. Hart, retiring superintendent of state banks, and David M. Auch, secretary of the Ohio Bankers association.

New officers of Group Six were elected at the afternoon session. They are Paul A. Warner, Mt. Vernon, president of the Knox County Savings Bank, chairman; William B. Kuhn, of the Citizens National bank of Shelby, vice chairman, and E. B. Ganware, of the Third National Exchange bank, Sandusky, secretary treasurer.

Warner succeeds Paul M. Eliot, of the Farmers Savings and Trust company, Mansfield. Warner served last year as vice chairman.

Hart, who leaves his position as state banking superintendent this month to become president of the Central National Trust company of Cincinnati, urged a spirit of aggressiveness of banking, and Auch predicted a hectic battle in congress on banking regulations during the current session, asserting that if government agencies are able to successfully compete with private banks in the general business of finance, free enterprise will have been killed.

At the afternoon session, members of the group heard the report of Secretary Kuhn, and that of the resolutions committee, headed by W. A. Ackerman, H. E. Cook, and C. W. Fuchs. The auditing committee report was prepared by O. H. Gray and E. Paul Bachman, and the nominating committee report was submitted by William Schoeneman, Thomas A. Reber and J. Gordon Bone.

Speaker at the afternoon session was Phil S. Eckert, of the agriculture credit department of the Federal Reserve bank. A round table discussion which followed was led by John E. Wise, Willard.

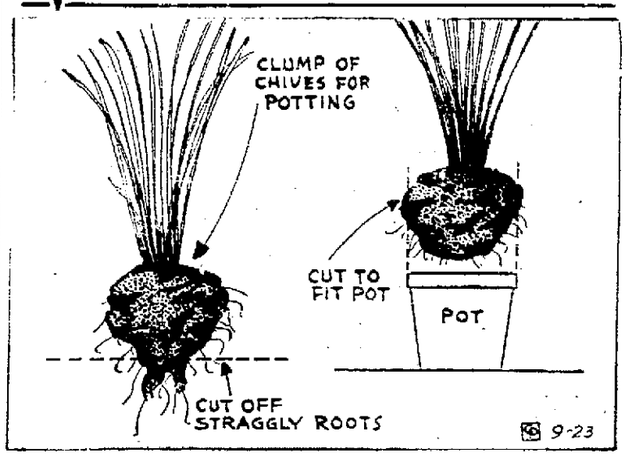
Eliot presided as toastmaster at last night's dinner session. Rev. Grover E. Swoyer pronounced the invocation, and music at the dinner was furnished by musicians from the Eugene Smart studio.

CRACKING DOWN

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Twenty-two Cleveland restaurants today were charged with price ceiling violations as the district office of price administration announced that "a major crackdown against northeastern Ohio restaurants" was underway in 19 counties.

Howard R. Hirsch, chief district enforcement attorney, said that investigations followed numerous complaints of patrons. Overcharges ranged from five to 50 cents on both meals and single items, investigators charged.

Today's VICTORY GARDEN-GRAPH



Potting Herbs From Victory Garden.

By DEAN HALLIDAY
(Released by Central Press Ass'n.)

In wartime herbs are of particular value for making substitute foods palatable as well as enhancing the flavor of salads.

To meet the family's needs during the winter months with a bit of fresh greens, parsley and chives can be transplanted from the Victory garden into flower pots or indoor kitchen window boxes. A sunny window is required for their continued growth.

As illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, upon digging up a clump of herbs any long, straggling roots should be cut off, rather than to attempt to curl them under in the bottom of the flower pot. Bulb pots are useful for transplanted herbs, but the plants should be cut to fit the pot, as illustrated, and not crowded in too tightly. Be sure to dig up the herbs before the ground freezes hard. The potted plants will keep growing until spring if they receive sun and are watered occasionally.

A few roots of parsley potted will add flavoring as well as garnishing for many dishes. When potted, parsley also makes an attractive house plant.

HANNOVER HIT BY MASS ATTACK

heavy bombers had returned from a smashing night attack on Hannover.

U. S. Marauders, covered by swarms of Allied fighters, meanwhile penetrated deep into northern France to hammer Nazi airdromes at Corches, about 60 miles west of Paris.

The attack on Nantes, an important German submarine base at the upper end of the Bay of Biscay, represented a roundtrip of approximately 500 miles beeline for the Fortresses.

American headquarters, in announcing today's raid, said the Fortresses also hit airdromes at Vannes-Meucon and Kerlin-Bastard in western France.

Out in force for the first time since the Dunlop rubber factory at Montlucon, France, was blasted a week ago, the RAF bomb-carriers struck a blow at Germany's internal communications in hitting at Hannover.

Located 158 miles west of Berlin, the city, which has a population of about 472,000 stands on the east-west railroad line between Berlin and Cologne. A big locomotive works is there, and many oil tanks are in the vicinity. It was Hannover's 48th raid of the war.

Clark Gable Goes On Nantes Raid

LONDON — (INS) — Capt. Clark Gable participated today in the American Flying Fortress raid on Nantes.

The Nantes attack was the film idol's fifth mission.

Crew members reported that anti-aircraft fire over Nantes was moderate but accurate and said there was considerable fighter opposition.

BUCKS ROLL IN

Act of Kindly Censor Gives Family $700 Bank Account.

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—(U.P.)—The wife and five children of Pvt. Edward N. Kleitz, serving somewhere in North Africa, have a $700 bank account because of the kindly act of a censor. The censor, reading Kleitz's letter sending money to his five children, who had been placed in an orphanage because of their mother's illness, enclosed a one-dollar bill saying, "There's an extra buck from the censor."

People all over the country read of his act and sent the family "another extra buck." Mrs. Kleitz has deposited $700 in "extra bucks" in a bank.

STAIRS BUSY AT HUGE CENTER

Elevators Stopped By Strike In Rockefeller Buildings.

NEW YORK —(AP)— Thousands of office workers trudged up endless flights of stairs to their jobs today as several hundred maintenance employes of Rockefeller Center continued a walkout begun just before the rush hour last night.

Lobbies of the 12 buildings affected were jammed. In the 70-story RCA building, only two of the elevators were in operation as office workers began to report for the day. Police formed a waiting line of more than 1,000 persons.

The strike affected 27,000 persons regularly employed in the buildings, and from 50,000 to 60,000 daily visitors, the management estimated. Average daily population of Rockefeller Center buildings was estimated at 150,000.

IN THE CAPITAL-- By Raymond Clapper

WASHINGTON—Two careful and long-experienced writers on foreign affairs, Walter Lippmann of the New York Herald-Tribune and William Philip Simms of the Scripps-Howard newspapers, have appeared in print on the same day, saying in naked words that unless the United States and Great Britain get together with Russia, another great war is inevitable.

A new war is dangled in front of our eyes. And this one is not yet over.

Clapper

These two writers, who view the world from somewhat different outlooks, happen on the same day to speak out the anxiety that lies in so many minds now. This chanced to be on the same day that Churchill revealed again his preoccupation with Russian relations, and in his long address to commons again made woo to Stalin as he did at Quebec and as Roosevelt did in his war report to congress last week.

* * *

Mr. Roosevelt is concerned about Russian relations and he has, together with Churchill, worked persistently and patiently to bring about better relations Especially he and Churchill have tried repeatedly to bring about a meeting with Stalin. They have offered to accommodate themselves to Stalin's wishes as to time and place. Repeatedly these efforts have failed to bring about the meeting but they have never been abandoned. No question of pride or personal convenience will be allowed to stand in the way.

Unquestionably, the Russian government is difficult to deal with in some respects. Allowances must be made and are being made for the different ways of the Russians and the western peoples. We are trying on our side. That is certain.

The preliminary meeting of foreign ministers or their representatives, which is being arranged now, will be a general survey discussion. That conference will have no plenary power and will mainly clear the way for the meeting it is hoped to bring about between the big three.

Nothing can take the place of a personal meeting between Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin. Matters of the highest policy must be discussed and settled. Only by talking face to face can these three men come to understand each other sufficiently to insure unified handling of the German problem, for instance. What are the Allies going to do when Germany surrenders? Specific plans must be ready, for that one cannot be kicked around the way the Italian business was improvised.

We do not know what Stalin wants to do about Germany. Propaganda out of Russia does not square with Anglo-American talk in all respects, but how much is propaganda and how much is hard policy? Only intimate conversations can be adequate to the many problems to be decided.

We insist on unconditional surrender, but the terms after that are open, as in the surrender of Lee to Grant. That one, too, was unconditional. Then Lee asked about the horses which were the personal property of the Confederate officers. Grant suggested they keep their horses as they would need them for the spring plowing.

We insist on unconditional surrender. But there must be many determinations about all kinds of questions. The full Italian armistice terms cover many pages although the surrender was unconditional.

* * *

Churchill is not exaggerating when he says that no meeting during this war could carry with it so much significance for the future of the world as a meeting between the heads of the three governments. He puts it a bit milder than Lippmann and Simms do when he says that without close, cordial and lasting association between Soviet Russia and their allies we might find ourselves at the end of the war only to have entered upon a period of deepening confusion Churchill naturally doesn't use the naked word. But you can get his idea from the reference to deepening confusion and it is a grim and sobering outlook unless these three men can establish a true community of interest and purpose.

READY PLAN TO SPUR FOREIGN FOOD OUTPUT

WMB Officials Give Outline To FDR To Help Nations Feed Themselves.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Plans for stimulating food production abroad so this country will not have to feed the world have been perfected by the War Mobilization board and are now on President Roosevelt's desk.

Announcement of the global work to be undertaken may be forthcoming this week-end, along with an executive order designating which federal agency is to administer the huge program.

The job may go either to the Office of Economic Warfare, which already is conducting large-scale purchasing operations abroad, or to the agriculture department with its foreign bureau and corps of experienced scientists. The state department probably will have general supervision insofar as foreign policy is concerned.

Eventually the program likely will be integrated into some United Nations organization in line with the Allied policy of sharing international responsibilities.

This would be in keeping, too, with United Nations plans to organize relief and rehabilitation work for war-wrecked areas on a worldwide basis in November. Distribution of food produced undoubtedly will be one of the functions of the relief agencies.

Agricultural experts here said the main work of promoting production abroad is divided into three steps—first, deciding where fertile lands and labor may be found; second, guaranteeing markets for the produce; and third, making available the services of scientists and other men with "know-how" as well as some machinery and seeds where needed.

The cost is not expected to be great since nations benefitting from increased production probably will be able to pay for the food they get. This was the case with relief work in North Africa.

URGE CLOSING OF U. S. BORDER TO IMMIGRANTS

Legionnaires In Last Day of Convention Map General Post-War Policy.

(By International News Service)

OMAHA, Neb.—The American Legion entered the final day of its 25th National convention in Omaha today after passing a resolution demanding that U. S. borders be closed to all immigrants after the war until unemployment in this country drops below the one million mark.

Before the curtain drops on the three-day meeting tonight, the 1,500 convention delegates also were expected to adopt a post-war foreign relations resolution giving its leaders for next year a mandate to keep the nation free of any single alliances with foreign powers.

Warren H. Atherton, Stockton, Cal., attorney, was scheduled to be elected national commander of the war veterans for the next year.

Atherton emerged from the convention as one of the key policy makers of the Legion. The others were Roane Waring of Memphis, Tenn., retiring commander, and Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war who was named chairman of the newly-created post-war planning commission of the Legion.

The convention, as it ended, was going down the line for what the legionnaires insisted war "real Americanism." Its post-war aims were already fairly concrete. It was steering a middle-of-the-road policy on what it would demand of the peace-makers after victory is won, leaving it up to the commission headed by Johnson to map out detailed proposals later

Governors of many states, all of them veterans of the 1917-18 war, were in Omaha for the Legion's meeting. They included Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, John W. Bricker of Ohio, Bourke B Hickenlopper, of Iowa, Prentice Cooper of Tennessee, and Nebraska's favorite son, the Republican Dwight Griswold

These men, and other politicos, hoped to gauge from the convention the political thoughts of rank-and-file Americans. The convention mirrored an "American first" attitude

FAIR ENOUGH-- By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK—I assume you know that the draft appeal board has revoked the latest deferment of second-front Joe Curran, the fair-weather sailor, who went to sea for a vacation cruise after the navy had brought the submarines under control to the extent that the Germans were losing submarines faster than the U-boats were sinking cargo vessels. Curran has been placed in 1-A and theoretically is due to be drafted as soon as he returns from his vacation. Comrade Curran is president of the National Maritime Union, which is a political protege of the New Deal, and he has been an uncommonly bloodthirsty advocate of an assault by American men on the channel coast of France Nevertheless, he has been extremely bashful about military service himself and hesitated to sail not only until the submarines had been suppressed, perhaps only temporarily, as Col. Frank Knox ominously suggests, but until there was a minimum risk of "adverse weather conditions," as his union phrased it in an official press release announcing his mission.

Pegler

Although Comrade Curran has been reclassified, it need not be assumed that he will see military service. He enjoys high political privilege like Harry Bridges, the alien communist enemy of the American government, and the wife of Earl Browder, head of the communist conspiracy against the United States; and doubtless he will be allowed delays until his 38th birthday and he seems absolutely safe Bridges and Mrs Browder both are under orders of deportation but have not been disturbed and will not be, although there is plenty of transportation to return them to Australia and Russia, respectively.

In connection with Comrade Curran's mission, which is the business of his sector of the anti-American communist front in Russia, Britain and Africa, the interesting point is raised that, somehow, he had been allowed to learn the destination of his vessel. The destinations of all American ships in these times are absolutely secret and not even the mast knows where he is bound until the convoy is made up and all hands are on board. There follows then a conference of the captains and the commander of the convoy and, theoretically, no other person knows until the ship has cleared the harbor whether she is going to the South Pacific, the west coast or Europe.

Curran, however, appears to have had secret information, the possession of which by a vacation sailor suggests a dangerous leak which might account for the loss of vessels and lives in times past, especially if such a leak existed before Hitler attacked Russia when the National Maritime Union and Comrade Curran were doing their utmost to defeat Britain and assure the triumph of the Nazis in the war.

Proving that Curran did have such information the union informed his draft board that he "shipped on the first vessel which, we felt, would call at the ports where first-hand observation could be made" of certain conditions which the union wanted to investigate. This letter to the draft board also admits that his purpose "was not to ship out as a seaman but to carry out a policy" of the NMU, which is a part of the communist front and is campaigning now to place the communists in control of shipping and loading on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

The minutes of a meeting in New York following the communist demonstration at the World-Telegram to demand suppression of information concerning this communist infiltration of the American merchant marine have just come to hand. They disclose that Brother Parkins got up and said that because they had refused to join the demonstration under orders from the union office, he and several other sailors had been set on the beach and not allowed to sail, although the merchant marine is desperately short of sailors and, as Parkins said in meeting: "We want to keep 'em sailing." Brother Parkins said he knew nothing of the demonstration but that even if he had known he would have refused to join the parade

Brother Joseph Stack, the port agent, replied that when Brother Parkins admitted he had failed to turn out and record his presence in his union book, he, Brother Stack, told Parkins he would have to go to the bottom of the shipping list. Brother Parkins then said. "I wouldn't picket even for my mother."

Brother Jeffries then denounced Brother Parkins for "insulting you and me and our dead" in refusing to march, another said the union had no room for him and still another moved that Brother Parkins be expelled from the union and thus ruled off the sea for making an anti-union declaration before this meeting."

The end of it was that Brother Parkins was set on the beach along with "three or four other fellows in the same position" and his closing remarks to the comrades were: "Why can't we ship out? We promised to keep 'em sailing, we didn't promise to go picketing."

FORMER JUDGE TAKES STAND

Cross-Examined During Trial of Attorney Charged With Offering Bribe.

GREENVILLE —(AP)— Former Probate Judge Harry E. Miles was called today for cross-questioning in the trial of T. A. Billingsley, local attorney and member of the State Racing Commission, charged with offering a bribe in the settlement of an estate

The former judge testified yesterday that during a conversation with Billingsley he (Miles) agreed to allow $10,900 in attorney fees in the administration of the Marker estate and would receive $1,500 for so doing. Billingsley, attorney for the administrators of the estate, is accused of offering Miles a $1,500 bribe to influence his decision.

Miles is awaiting an appeal hearing on a conviction last Feb. 8 of soliciting a bribe. At his own trial, both he and Billingsley testified no bribe had been solicited or offered, as did Joseph A. Menke, co-administrator of the estate, who was indicted jointly with Billingsly on the bribery charge.

Yesterday the state offered as evidence five letters allegedly written by Miles—four to the late J. Ed Williams, co-administrator of the estate, and the fifth to Menke.

Menke has not been tried on the bribery charge, but he was convicted last July of embezzlement in connection with the Marker estate. He has appealed.

Hints, warnings, and insults, none of them seem to bother a tramp who has attached himself to Lexington and just won't leave The man has been seen around town for two or three days and when Lexington residents decided they didn't like his looks, the town marshal locked up this persona non grata Yesterday morning the marshal let the tramp out of safe-keeping, gave him money for breakfast and told him to leave town But the tramp refused The marshal then gave up and called a deputy sheriff to run the tramp out of Lexington

ROUNDING OUT SABOTAGE DATA

Prosecution Ends Case Today In Alleged Welding of Airplane Castings.

(By United Press)

CLEVELAND — U. S. District Attorney Don C. Miller indicated he was prepared to conclude late today or tomorrow the presentation of prosecution evidence in the war sabotage trial of the National Bronze and Aluminum company and seven of its former officials.

Major Leonard A. Bernier and Capt. Morris F. Booth, air force inspectors attached to Wright Field, Dayton, testified yesterday. The government charged that the defendants permitted secret welding of defective airplane engine castings which had been rejected by Packard Motor Car company for whom they were made.

Both officers said they were sent to National Bronze Aug. 4, 1942, to investigate complaints the company was welding castings and that as a result Packard had been forced to reject $130,000 worth of castings for Rolls-Royce Merlin airplane engines Both said they were delayed more than 30 minutes in the National office before being permitted to start their inspection

Major Bernier said he was called to Detroit on Aug. 17 and shown a supercharger casting in the Packard laboratories which had been welded. The casting was stamped by National with the date Aug. 14, 1942—ten days after a company official, the government charged, promised no welded castings would be shipped to Packard

ORDERS SIGNS

City To Get 25 New Ones For 'Stop' Streets.

New 25-mile speed limit signs will begin to appear soon along Mansfield streets and the old signs at "stop" streets are going to be easier to read in the dark.

Traffic Commissioner Frend C. Boals said he has ordered 25 new speed limit signs and a new type of luminous material for coating the markers at "stop" streets. Letters on the signs will be treated with the material which is glued on and is said to resist weather. Forty of the signs will be treated as and experiment and the rest later if the test proves satisfactory, Boals said.

The 25 new speed limit markers will be made from metal materials Boals said They are expected to be delivered in four or five weeks.

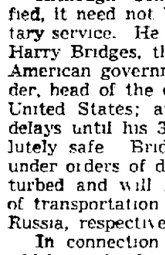
IN HOLLYWOOD-- By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—The reports from up front were that a lovely movie lady named Joan Fontaine was wasting away under the weight of work and period costumes, so I dashed over at a slow canter to see if I could call a doctor, hold a nurse's hand, or be of some other use.

I found no doctor, no nurse, only a chipper and gay Miss Fontaine. She was in her dressing room, swathed in a billowing 17th century outfit of metal cloth with a fur-trimmed jacket.



Coons

"'I'm dreaming of a white Christmas'," she announced merrily "Never had one, you know. Brian (Aherne) and I are trying to get away to the Maine Woods for some winter shooting and fishing."

First she had to finish "Frenchman's Creek," a picture about which she was already singing paeons "It's going to be the greatest picture ever made," she stated flatly. "Oh, I know about 'For Whom the Bell Tolls,' but that was our greatest yesterday—today's is 'Frenchman's Creek'."

It's the most strenuous picture she ever did, appearing in most of its vaunted $3,500,000 worth of scenes in 18 changes of costume which average in weight about 30 pounds, under hot lights for the color camera, and to date she had lost nearly 10 pounds.

Daphne DuMaurier, who wrote the novel about the French pirate and the bored English wife, made it strenuous for the heroine who must, among other exploits, wrestle up and down a flight of stairs with villain Basil Rathbone before killing him. Most period heroines gasp on the sidelines while the heroes swashbuckle around, but Joan has to join hero Arturo de Cordova in the swashing.

"The best thing about it," she said, "is that I don't cower, cringe, shudder or shriek—not once. I'm not a mousy little thing. I'm a Jezebel, a red-headed vixen, a regular Scarlett O'Hara. It's wonderful!"

Joan's mousy cringings, occurring in "Rebecca," "Suspicion," "Jane Eyre" and other epics, may have given you the impression she is a delicate little flower, but no! She's the outdoor type, she said.

"I've made a hole in one," she averred, "and I love to go hunting and fishing. When we had the airplane, Brian and I used to go fishing from it. We could get to otherwise inaccessible lakes, land on pontoons, and really fish. I love those trips, sleeping outdoors, hiking, cooking for ourselves."

At home the Ahernes don't cook for themselves. They still have the Filipino boy, Frankie, Brian had in his bachelor days.

Dorothy Kilgallen's column did not arrive in time for publication today. It will be resumed tomorrow.
